LEAGUE'S WORK IS ENDANGERED

Mr. Asquith Points to Results of United States' Failure to Take Its Share With Powers In Organization

BELIEVES IT HAS PEOPLE'S SUPPORT

Sees Catastrophe to World If Nation Fails to Join With Others to Further Principles Fought For

LONDON, March 12.—Herbert H. Asquith, former Premier, in a speech tonight dealing with the League of Nations said that as long as the United States did not do its share in the league it must have a fragmentary and lopsided aspect.

As far as he was able to judge, Mr. Asquith added, a vast majority of the people in the United States sympathized with the spirit and purpose of the league. It was impossible to believe that after rendering such signal and decisive service to the greatest cause ever at stake the Americans would allow the principles which inspired the Allies to be left in jeopardy.

It would be a catastrophe to the world and a terrible impoverishment of the league's resources, Mr. Asquith declared, if, during the trying and critical times ahead, America could not be relied upon as the partner and associate of the league.

AERIAL CONDITIONS AT EXTREME HEIGHT

NEW YORK, March 12.—Trade winds, sweeping from west to east at 100 to 300 miles an hour, were discovered by Major Rudolph W. Schroeder, army test pilot at Dayton, Ohio, before he fell approximately five miles and landed without crashing after establishing an altitude record of 36,020 feet in a recent flight. He reported the discovery on his arrival here today.

"I have not been able to figure out exactly what the roof of the world really is," he said. "I think it possible to go much higher than 42,000 feet, which scientists believe is the ultimate ceiling of the world. But I believe it to be a question of fuel supply."

Major Shroeder said that after his month's furlough, which was granted him to recover from effects of freezing and carbon monoxide poisoning, he would make another aerial exploration.

GREATER REVENUE IS NECESSARY

Controller of Finance in Britain Says Taxation Must Be Increased to Clear Off Part of National Debt

LONDON, March 12.—Giving testimony yesterday before the committee on taxation of war wealth, R. Blackett, controller of finance to the treasury, advocated special taxation. He said there was real necessity for large contributions to the reduction of the national debt and urgent necessity to obtain cash by taxation.

For this it was most desirable, he said, to get rid of what he termed the everlasting rise in prices. He said the longer this situation was left the worse it would be, for the vicious system would continue and a crash would come.

Mr. Blackett said there were one billion pounds in treasury bills and £200,000,000 in ways and means advances to be refunded or paid off, and until this was done, it would be impossible to stop the "present vicious circle."

David Warfield Injured

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—David Warfield, the actor, was struck by an automobile truck here late today and sustained a broken left leg and lacerations on the nose and lips. At the receiving hospital, where Mr. Warfield was taken, it was said it had not been determined whether there were internal injuries.

Tax Proposal Is Old

OTTAWA, March 13.—The proposal to impose a tax on the sales of retail merchants is an old one, it being first brought up four years ago. No action has been taken by the Government, although the idea has not been forgotten. Whether the proposal is to be adopted or not will not be known until the Budget is brought down.

PREMIER BORDEN SENDS MESSAGE

OTTAWA, March 12. — Sir Robert Borden has telegraphed to inform his followers in the House that he is making steady and encouraging progress toward recovery, and expects to be in the capital within seven or eight weeks.

EXPECTS DISSENT FROM RESERVATIONS

NEW YORK, March 12.—A special dispatch to The Times from Washington today says:

"It is not believed here that the British Government will assent to the Lenroot reservation as adopted, in the face of protests from Canada and other British Dominions against being deprived of their votes in the League of Nations. Canada is understood to be counting upon the British Government to refuse to accept the Senate changes in the League covenant and upon British influence to line up the principal powers against acceptance."

PRINCE PAYS HONOR TO MOUNTED POLICE

OTTAWA, March 12.—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has consented to become honorary commandant of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, it was announced in the House of Commons by Hon. N. W. Rowell this afternoon. A cable from Sir George Perley, Canadian High Commissioner in London, stated that the Prince was highly pleased with the work of the police as his escort, and that he, with other distinguished visitors, had become an ardent admirer of the famous force.

HOUSE DEBATES EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Mr. Mackie, of Edmonton, and Hon. Mackenzie King Attack Clause in Resolution Providing for Agreements.

OTTAWA, March 12.—In the House last evening, H. A. Mackie, Edmonton, resumed the debate on the eight-hour day resolution offered by Mr. Burnham. He dealt with the progress in regulating the hours and conditions of labor for women and children, particularly in Europe, the United States and Canada. A Dominion-wide eight-hour day was not going to meet all requirements. There were some conditions under which the eight-hour day would be too long.

While he was in favor of an eight-hour day, Mr. Mackie did not like the phrase "subject only to the right of express private contracts." He thought this rendered the entire resolution null and void. It was useless to attempt to enforce an eight-hour day and at the same time allow an employer to make any contract he might desire with his workers in regard to hours.

In reply to Hon. Mackenzie King, Mr. Burnham said the resolution had no intention of taking away a man's right to make an agreement. If an act was passed without this clause, was there any assurance that some men could not work 18 hours a day if they so desired?

Mr. King replied that if the law stipulated an eight-hour day, then an employer who kept his men working longer would become liable to penalty. With this latter provision, Mr. Burnham's became nothing more than a pious wish for an eight-hour day wherever it might be agreeable.

M. POINCARE SPEAKS IN FRANCE'S CAUSE

PARIS, March 12.—Former President Poincare, in his first political article in the Revue des Deux Monde, denounces Germany for her attempt to secure a revision of the Treaty of Versailles. He asks the Anglo-Saxon friends of France, before being moved to pity at Germany's fate, to look at France's devastated regions, "and agree that, having paid with our blood and our property for victory and the freedom of nations, we have an inalienable and imprescriptable right to recover damages."

The former President sharply criticized the stand of the Supreme Council with regard to the Eastern situation. In conclusion, M. Poincare expressed the wish that the Supreme Council will soon "sleep its last sleep."

PLANS SERVICE TO MINE FIELDS

Mr. Price, of Prince Rupert, Preparing to Secure Airplanes and Seaplanes for Stewart District Work

VANCOUVER, March 13.—The big problem of transportation to Northern mining fields of British Columbia has been solved in the mind of R. M. Price, of Prince Rupert, who has recently let contracts for the supply of several aeroplanes and seaplanes of a commercial type to inaugurate a service between Prince Rupert and Stewart, B. C., with connections at Hyder, Alaska.

Mr. Price for several years has been superintendent at Swamp Point quarries, furnishing fluxing ores to the Granby smelter at Anyox. The proposed aerial service which he intends to inaugurate in the near future will be for both passenger and freight traffic. In view of the certainty that this year there will be a great influx to the Northern mining section at the head of the Portland Canal, Mr. Price looks forea big business for his service, especially from those who desire to make their trip to the North with celerity.

STEADY PROGRESS BEING MADE IN CANVASS

Antonio Faitu, bootblack at the Empress Hotel, purchased a block of stock from the canvassers yesterday. He does not expect a job from Victoria Shipowners, Limited, but he has not forgotten the city where he lives and makes a living.

Gunda Singh walked into the campaign headquarters at the corner of Broad and View Streets yesterday afternoon and purchased shares to the amount of $500. He, also, has no eye on a job, but he thinks it's a good thing, and he does not forget that he is what the city makes him and the city is what he makes it.

Phone 5327 rang in the headquarters yesterday afternoon. It was a resident of Salt Lake City speaking from the Empress Hotel. He wished that a canvasser be sent around to him, and one went immediately. The man who telephoned thought that Victoria Shipowners, Limited, deserved support, and he intended to take one share. When the canvasser left the room he had sold shares to the value of $350, the Salt Lake resident taking two shares and four men in the room with him buying stock at his request.

Bishop MacDonald is the possessor of $1,000 worth of stock in the shipbuilding and shipowning company. He believes that the citizens should give the scheme every support.

Having quiet confidence in their proposition members of the Citizens' Committee, formed to raise the remainder of the capital necessary, set out yesterday morning on the first organized canvass of the business sections of the city. They will stay at it until the money is raised, and then they will go back to their businesses and Victoria will have her ships.

HON. MR. FARRIS SPRINGS CABLE

Attorney-General Quotes Message to Late Agent-General in Effort to Impute Dishonest Intentions

Something in the nature of a near sensation was sprung on the Legislature yesterday afternoon when, in the course of his speech on the motion for the second reading of the new Elections Act, Attorney-General J. W. de B. Farris quoted from a copy of an alleged cable which, he said, had been sent by Mr. W. J. Bowser after the general elections in 1916, but before the Conservative Government had resigned the reins of office, to Sir Richard McBride, then Agent-General, and which purported to be as follows: "The soldiers' vote may give us twelve to fifteen seats. I want 180. Slump general everywhere. Prohibition carried by over 7,000."

The Attorney-General was concluding his speech in heated manner and was roundly denouncing the Opposition Leader for what, he alleged, were the unjustified insinuations of the possibilities of irregularities under the new bill. He referred to the overseas' soldier vote, intimating there had been a plan to steal it, and he declared when the Opposition Leader spoke of the possibilities of irregularities under the new system of absentee voting through the sealed envelopes containing such ballots being tampered with the latter must have had in mind previous irregularities by the late Government.

"I have here before me a copy of a cable sent by my friend to the late Sir Richard McBride, Agent-General at London," Hon. Mr. Farris said, and he continued to quote: "The soldiers' vote may give us twelve to fifteen seats. I want 180." There was hearty Government applause.

"I will read on," he said. "Slump is general everywhere, prohibition carried by over 7,000."

"Full needed 7,000 and my friend opposite says he wanted 180. Is it

Control of Drug Sales

OTTAWA, March 12.—Designed to curtail the use of opium in Canada, and to place the control of the traffic in the hands of the minister in charge of the Department of Health, a resolution to repeal Chapter 22 of the Opium and Drug Act will be submitted to the House Monday by Hon. N. W. Rowell.

MAY THANK STRIKE FOR SUGAR WANT

Former Food Board Head Tells Inquiry This Will Be Last Analysis of Situation—Lost Seven Months' Supply

In the estimation of Mr. H. B. Thomson, former chairman of the Canada Food Board, the acute shortage of sugar in British Columbia could be placed, in the last analysis, on the loss of the 11,000 tons of the raw product turned away from the British Columbia refinery during the strike of longshoremen last July, to be diverted to the California refineries, he told the committee yesterday afternoon as a witness in the legislative inquiry. He translated the amount into a loss of seven months' supply to the consumers in British Columbia. Normally, of course, a certain amount of that supply would have gone to Alberta. He made the estimate on the basis of a yearly consumption of 90 pounds of sugar to the head of population. In pre-war days it was about 81 pounds to the head in all of Canada, he said.

AUTOMOBILE KILLS VANCOUVER WOMAN

VANCOUVER, March 12.—A woman, whose identity has not yet been established, was run down and killed by an automobile shortly before 11 o'clock as she stepped from a street car at the corner of Fifteenth Avenue and Granville street.

The auto did not stop, but was overtaken by a Point Grey constable riding a motorcycle, who arrested one of the men, the other escaping.

IRISH MURDERS ARE INCREASING

BELFAST, March 12.—Constable Cully was shot at Glenmire, County Cork, last night. He was the twenty-sixth policeman murdered since January 21.

Two soldiers and a number of civilians also were killed by gangs in the same vicinity yesterday.

MOSLEM QUESTION LOOMS UP DARKLY IN TURKS' AFFAIRS

Allies Closely Scan Possibilities of Religious Complications Arising From Pressure on Sultan and His People—Arabs and Other Moslems Might Join Forces

SYRIAN CONGRESS CAREFULLY WATCHED

Italy Emphasizes Danger of Employing Any Mussulman Troops Against Turkey—Bolsheviki Intrigues in Afghanistan and India Present Further Danger to Britain

LONDON, March 12.—Earl Curzon's speech on the Turkish problem, made in the House of Lords yesterday, and other official and unofficial statements on the subject are generally regarded as showing that the Near East tangle is quite serious and is threatening in connection with Syria and Mesopotamia. The shadow of Indian and Moslem opinion darkens the problem.

The suggestion that the employment of force against the Turks might excite general hostility in the Moslem world is regarded as one that cannot safely be ignored. In some quarters the feeling prevails that there is danger if the Turks are pressed they may immediately be joined by the Arabs. The Italian view that it would be dangerous to employ against the Turks British Moslem or other Moslem troops in the service of the Allies is evidently based on these fears. Careful watch is being kept here on the outcome of the Syrian congress at Damascus, and it is understood that any decision or proposal by the Peace Conference regarding Syria would be purely tentative.

Among the day's reports was one that France has been given a mandate over Cilicia, but this was unconfirmed.

Great Britain is also regarded as ruled out as mandatory, and the League of Nations is looked to as the only hope for protecting Turkey's non-Moslem subjects. Earl Curzon's statement attributing the cause of the Turkish trouble to awaiting action by the United States is not commented on by some editorial writers, but others point out that if a settlement had been taken a year ago, when Turkey was militarily humbled, the present trouble would not have arisen.

Reports have cropped up of recent Bolsheviki activities directed against the Allies in co-operation with the Turkish nationals and in nearer India. It is said that specially trained Bolsheviki propagandists have installed printing presses in Afghanistan, where pamphlets, written in the vernacular, with a view to undermining British authority in India and stirring up trouble on the Afghanistan border, are being produced.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 12.—Dispatches from London and Paris announcing that the Supreme Council has decided to take drastic action at Constantinople to prevent the killing of Christians and enforce peace terms more radically than was contemplated before the trouble at Marash, have been received with apparent indifference by the Turks, the only effect being the designation of a slightly changed Cabinet.

Turkish officials are watching without any evidences of concern the move in London to force them out of Europe and the printing of a dispatch reporting that President Wilson would insist that the Sultan must leave Constantinople caused scarcely a ripple.

The Allied naval displays on the Bosphorus and the British and French parades in the streets of Constantinople are watched indifferently by the public.

The Black, Marmora and Aegean Seas are alive with Allied warships ready to co-operate with land forces in the defence of the straits in the enforcement of a blockade should such action be taken. The British have four battleships of the Iron Duke class, four cruisers of the Cardiff class, six destroyers of the Steadfast class, two destroyers of the Tomahawk class, and five superdreadnaughts of the Revenge class within easy reach of the straits, with several other warships convenient to the Golden Horn or the Bosphorus. The Italians have two battleships, one cruiser and two destroyers in the vicinity. The French have two modern battleships, two destroyers and two cruisers, two sloops and one transport. The Greeks, the battleship Kilkis, and the United States has destroyers, the cruiser Galveston and several small craft.

LITHUANIANS SEEK PEACE WITH SOVIET

COPENHAGEN, March 12. — The Berlingske Tidingen says it learns that a Lithuanian delegation has arrived in Moscow, ostensibly to negotiate for an exchange of prisoners, but in reality to discuss peace terms.

The majority of the Lithuanians, says the newspaper, are eager for peace.

It is added that a Czecho-Slovak delegation has arrived in Moscow with the same intention as the Lithuanians.

Experimental Farms

OTTAWA, March 12. — A more general, equitable and uniform system of experimental farms and substations to be established throughout Canada is the plea contained in a resolution to be submitted to the House today by Donald Sutherland, of Oxford South.

HAD KNOWLEDGE OF SUBMARINES

Admiral Sims Shows That the Navy Department Was Unnecessarily Concerned Over Possible Raids on U.S. Coast

WASHINGTON, March 12.—More shipping was saved by keeping track of German submarines and routing vessels clear of them than by any other single measure, Rear Admiral Sims told the Senate investigating committee today.

The Admiral's statement was in support of his charge that the Navy Department had a "fundamental misconception" of the problem of defending home waters in keeping American naval forces on this side of the Atlantic, rather than by giving "wholehearted and vigorous co-operation" to the Allies.

"Actual experience has shown," he continued, "that we could depend upon keeping reasonably accurate track of all submarines at sea. We were certain we would never have to deal with but one or two submarines at a time on our coast, and it was possible to do a great deal towards providing for the safety of shipping in our home waters without the use of any anti-submarine craft at all."

Admiral Sims presented cablegrams announcing the departure from Germany of the first raider for the American coast, sent more than three weeks before the vessel appeared in American waters. The messages he read, he said, were remarkable for the accuracy with which every move of the enemy was foretold, and he added that they were founded on absolute information obtained by the British Admiralty. They proved, he argued, the soundness of his original recommendations to the department that all available forces should be concentrated in European waters.

Disregard by the Navy Department of his recommendations with regard to adoption of the convoy system was described by Admiral Sims today as "infinitely more serious," in its bearing on the war than other cases of alleged inefficiency cited in previous testimony before the Senate investigating committee. Admiral Sims said that early in 1917 the Allies were compelled by the submarines to adopt the convoy plan for protecting shipping, and that on March 1 he urgently recommended that the United States give its co-operation, but it was not until June 20 that Secretary Daniels replied he considered American vessels having armed guards were safer when sailing independently.

Pensions Discussed By House Members

Members Generally Agree That Mounted Police Should Be Adequately Cared For—Plea for Dependents of Dead Soldiers—Mr. Fielding Admits His Government's Mistake

OTTAWA, March 12.—A general discussion in the House of Commons on pensions for Canadian Mounted Police raised the question of superannuation for the civil service.

In particular a declaration by Hon. W. S. Fielding aroused interest. He referred to the change made by the Laurier Government (of which he was a member) in the superannuation system then in force.

By that change superannuation remained with regard to old officials, but with regard to subsequent appointments it was abolished and a retirement fund established. The retirement fund, however, had been found to be "entirely insufficient."

"I am free to say," Mr. Fielding added, "that the then government made a mistake, and I am willing to help the present government to correct that mistake."

There was a general feeling of the House in favor of adequate pensions for men in the Canadian Mounted Police.

A plea was made by Capt. Marlow on behalf of the dependents of men killed at the front.

"These helpless people left by the men killed at the front or in some other branch of the country's service," he declared, "should be adequately looked after and given a good living wage."

On the broad question of general superannuation for the civil service, Hon. T. W. Crothers, ex-Minister of Labor, differed. He agreed that the men of the Mounted Police force were underpaid, and everything should be done for the dependents of returned men, but he thought civil servants generally were better paid than they would be in the same line in private employment. If the Government insured civil servants against old age, the civil servants should pay the premium.

Some discussion followed on the proposal to reduce the amount of silver coinage. Sir Henry Drayton when questioned on the point remarked that the Government now had under consideration the coining of a nickel five cent piece. Sir Henry also observed that any man on a Cabinet Minister's salary was fully occupied with the cost of living.

GERMANY MAKES MORE DEMANDS

Sends Impertinent Note to the Allies in Regard to War Criminals—Threat of Punishment on Their Side

BERLIN, March 12.—The German charge d'affaires in London has handed to Premier Lloyd George a note regarding the Entente extradition lists, it was announced today.

After asserting that the Imperial court will be guided only by considerations of justice, and will conduct an impartial inquiry, the note demands that the arrest of Germans in the occupied territories on charges similar to those enumerated in the extradition list shall cease, and that those arrested shall be delivered to German courts.

The release of Germans who for similar reasons have been detained in war prison camps also is asked for. The note finally demands that the Allies abandon the reservation regarding their right to try for crimes committed during the war any Germans not mentioned in the list encountered on Allied territory, and says that incidents arising out of the war should be consigned to oblivion with the advent of peace.

Otherwise, the note says, a restoration of normal conditions and relations between the different nationalities is hardly conceivable, and that the German Government on its part will be obliged to take measures with a view to the expiation of punishable acts committed during the war against Germans by Allied subjects.

HAVE CRITICISM FOR PRESIDENT

London Papers Comment Somewhat Caustically on Charge Against France in His Letter to Senator

LONDON, March 12.—The Globe was the first newspaper in this country to break the editorial silence regarding President Wilson's letter to Senator Hitchcock. It says:

"President Wilson's letter to Senator Hitchcock raises the query as to whether it is indicative of his being so far restored to health that he must need speak plainly and vigorously or whether it shows his condition to be such that he cannot restrain himself from manifesting his private petulance by public indiscretions. ..... Be that as it may, the President's true friends will deplore an unworthy and almost unmannerly outburst which will lay him open to pointed retorts on the part of our French Allies."

Reviewing the position of President Wilson in peace making, The Globe declares that he "is temperamentally unfitted to deal successfully with a position demanding a certain measure of give and take. ....The world has suffered and is suffering.

"We won't enter into any detailed discussion of the President's conduct in writing publicly that 'the French militarist party is now in control,' for we know that our friends across the Channel will deal faithfully with that egregious statement. But we cannot help wondering what would be said in the United States should Deschanel write to Millerand asserting that the money making element is in control in the United States. We fancy that the shrill American outcry would be distinctly heard across the Atlantic.

"It is no exaggeration to say the illness of President Wilson has provoked the sincere sympathy of the whole civilized world. But, his recent ebullitions elicit a certain degree of sympathy for the United States."

President Wilson's charge of imperialism against France, contained in his letter to United States Senator Hitchcock early this week, has moved The Morning Post to take up the cudgels in favor of France. The newspaper says:

"Under the impulse of his lofty ideals, the United States President is almost as impatient of the constitutional governments of modern European democracies as he is impatient of his own Senate."

Americans and Englishmen will, says the newspaper, understand the amazement of France that the same voice which described her as the sentinel of liberty should now accuse her of being saddled with the same kind of chauvinistic government to overthrow which she sacrificed a million of her sons.

VON BERNSTORFF TELLS HIS STORY

In Address to German Audience Lays Blame for U.S. Entering War on Military Clique at Berlin

BERLIN, March 12.—Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the United States, has been trying his skill at public speaking in Berlin during the past week preparatory to his Fall campaign for a seat in the National Assembly. He addressed audiences last night and entertained a largely-attended meeting at the Grunewald with a recital of his Washington experiences.

The former Ambassador said he was confident his efforts to keep the United States out of the war would have been successful but for the intervention of the German military "crowd" at the moment when prospects were brightest. President Wilson's failure to secure recognition of his 14 points, he believed, was due to the fact that Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau were more dominating figures in the conference.

Von Bernstorff was cross-examined by his auditors for fully an hour after he had concluded, most of whom wanted him to explain why the President had ostensibly worked for a just peace in the Fall and Winter of 1916-'17 and then failed to negotiate one subsequently.

An elderly woman told the former Ambassador that he was altogether wrong in his optimistic estimates of the President of the United States, who, she declared, "has completely duped us with his 14 points."

Von Bernstorff asserted that even today he was not informed as to what military quarters in Germany had inspired the American plots and crimes charged to von Papen, Boy-Ed and others.

In the course of his revelations being published Count von Bernstorff denies that the leaders of the German propaganda bureau in the United States had attempted to play off Japan and Mexico against the United States.

EXPENSE ACCOUNT FOR PRINCE'S VISIT

MONTREAL, March 12.—The Montreal Star has the following special cable from London:

"The expense account of the Prince of Wales for his recent visit to the United States and Canada, just published, shows the tour cost only $35,000. The treasury had allowed $125,000 for the journey.

"The statement discloses that the Prince paid no hotel bills for himself, but had to meet the cost of accommodation for a dozen officers and other members of his suite. He also paid for all the wines consumed by his suite.

"Tips and gifts, ranging from walking sticks to jeweled bracelets, amounted to $10,000."

DISPUTES ACT TO BE AMENDED

Minister of Labor Brings Into Senate Bill Providing for Several Changes — Introduction of Group System

OTTAWA, March 12.—Amendments to the Industrial Disputes Investigations Act, introduced in the Senate some days ago by the Minister of Labor, will probably come up for second reading this afternoon.

One of the most important amendments is to Clause 2, the interpretation clause of the bill. The amendment will make it possible for a board of conciliation to deal with a large number of firms employed in a similar industry as a group instead of as separate and distinct entities. This will be especially valuable in the case of coal mining companies. It sometimes happens that the employees of several mines are members of a single union, and would be quite satisfied to be represented on a board by one representative. On the other hand, the employers, not being organized, sometimes insist on having their own representative, thus necessitating the creation of a large number of boards to deal with a dispute in which, by the group system, one board would serve.

Another amendment is intended to make it impossible, as occurred in Toronto some time ago, for employees to go on strike after the sitting of a board of conciliation before the findings have been delivered to the disputing parties.

Section 63, A. of the Act is amended so as to give the Minister of Labor the power to appoint a board of conciliation to deal with any dispute if he thinks that a strike or lockout is imminent. The old amendment provided that he might appoint a board of his own volition when a strike or lockout had occurred.

Another amendment provides for an allowance to witnesses attending hearing of boards, of $2 a day, and actual and reasonable cost of living and traveling expenditures.

BILL RELATING TO INDIAN LANDS

Minister of Interior Introduces Measure Dealing With British Columbia Reserves—Indian Deputation to Ottawa

OTTAWA, March 12.—Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior, introduced a bill this afternoon respecting Indian lands in British Columbia. In 1912 a royal commission was appointed to report on differences between the Governments of the Dominion and British Columbia in respect to Indian lands. It has been found impossible, Mr. Meighen said, to ratify the findings of the commission. The bill was to enable the Government to negotiate with the Government of British Columbia and reach a conclusion on the basis of the commission's findings with certain modifications. Similar legislation was being introduced in the Legislature of British Columbia.

Mr. Meighen also introduced a bill amending the Indian Act. The bill, he said, looks to a more ready enfranchisement of the Indians—that was to say, the elevation of Indians to a full status of citizenship.

It also provided for the compulsory education of Indian children, and made other minor changes in the Indian Act. The bill was read a first time.

WINNIPEG, March 12.—In an endeavor to get the Dominion Government to take a more reasonable view of the question of Indian reserves in British Columbia, and in order to get an equitable settlement of the whole matter, outside the courts if possible, a delegation representing the allied tribes of British Columbia is on its way to Ottawa, and the matter will be taken up with the Federal Government.

ADVOCATES INCREASE IN POLICE PENSIONS

OTTAWA, March 12.—Hon. N. W. Rowell today introduced a resolution which he explained was for the purpose of correcting a clerical error in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police bill now before the House.

He then went on to make a plea for increased pensions for veterans of the Mounted Police, drawing attention to the fact that these pensions were based upon the salaries paid to the pensioners when on the active list. In the case of a number of pensioners, their salaries in pre-war days were not large, and the advance in the cost of living since the war had made the pensions based on these salaries absolutely inadequate.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS SUFFER STARVATION

LONDON, March 12.—The central column of the North Russian Army, with Gen. Skobelstin in command, has arrived at Lentira, Finland, 15 miles north of Viborg, according to a dispatch to The London Times. The column numbers 400 men, and they are in an extremely exhausted condition.

The dispatch adds that in reply to telegrams, food has been sent to prevent the men from starving, but that transport difficulties make it uncertain whether it will arrive in time. The American Red Cross is assisting the troops.

CALGARY, March 12.—Thomas Williams, a farmer of Stavely, Alta., was fatally injured Thursday while operating a feed chopper outfit at a farm when he was caught in the flywheel of the engine. He died while being brought to a Calgary hospital.

Do Not Want Alvensleben

VANCOUVER, March 12.—Members of the Great War Veterans' Association do not want Alvo von Alvensleben, recently released from Fort Douglas Prison at Salt Lake City, Utah, where he was interned as an enemy alien during the war, but who is now sojourning in Seattle, to come to British Columbia. They passed a resolution on the undesirability of readmitting him to Canada and to petition the Minister of Immigration at Ottawa to refuse the ex-Kaiser's former agent in this Province permission to cross borders.

STRENGTHEN TIES OF TWO NATIONS

Course Advocated by Sir Auckland Geddes in His First Public Address Since Appointment as Ambassador

LONDON, March 12.—Sir Auckland Geddes, newly-appointed ambassador to the United States, made his first speech today since his appointment was announced, addressing a large gathering in his honor at the American Luncheon Club. The American Ambassador John W. Davis, presided.

Sir Auckland spoke of the characteristics of the American and the English people and the essentiality of binding them together. Referring to the phrases "Our American Cousins" and "Blood is thicker than water," the Ambassador said he felt at first that he was dealing with a great civilization which seemed different from all he had met, until "the crust was broken and I found myself among people I understand."

He continued: "The cure for such ills as exist is, I am sure, frankly to recognize that the common language is at once a bond and a barrier and to work to strengthen its binding power and weaken its separating influence. It can be done, but it is not the work of a day or a year.

"The Englishman who saw his best girl off with an American soldier or sailor is going to continue braying that he dislikes Americans, which is not what he really means at all. What he really means is 'I dislike seeing my girl take any notice of another male.'

"What we all want more consciously to realize is that nations cannot be judged by a few chance specimens of their citizens. They must be judged by the collective will, made manifest in hours of crisis. Judge Britain by her action as a nation during the war during, if you will, one month of the war—April, 1918—and I think no Briton or friend of Britain need be ashamed of his citizenship or his friendship.

"Judge America by her action when she came into the war, her wholehearted and instantaneous adoption of compulsory military service, and the voluntary rationing of the United States fuel and food in millions of households, and I think no American or friend of America need be other than proud of his citizenship or his friendship.

"These are great signs of the pure gold of unselfish idealism in national souls, and long after the hysterical shouting and exaggerations have passed away, long after the false generalizations have been exposed and their falseness recognized, the ultimate essential verity, the capacity to forget self in the service of a common ideal, will bind our nations in a yoke of service to mankind."

SHIP OPERATIONS PROVE PROFITABLE

LONDON, March 11.—The House of Commons today discussed finance at great length, and with a customary, critical discursiveness cleared off the outstanding supplementary estimates for the shipping ministry. It was stated that the earnings of controlled ships had exceeded the estimate by £54,000,000, and as the surplus from Dominions and Allies was £7,000,000, there was an excess total of £61,000,000.

The House of Lords held an unfinished debate on the second reading of Lord Buckmaster's matrimonial causes bill, which proposes to reorganize the divorce law, according to recent recommendations of the divorce commission.

They include setting up district courts, equalizing the law for men and women and adding insanity, desertion, cruelty, imprisonment under commuted death sentence and habitual drunkenness as grounds for divorce.

PRINCE JOACHIM IS HELD IN JAIL

Is Confronted by Count Metternich, Austrian, Who Describes Hotel Assault—Conference Is to Send Note

BERLIN, March 11. — Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia, cousin of the former German Emperor, and Captain von Platen are still being detained in the Moabit jail for the part they played in the attack on the members of the French Commission in the Hotel Adlon dining room Saturday. Joachim was confronted today by Count Metternich, an Austrian, who was in the dining room at the time. The meeting was in the presence of the state's attorney, and the Count reiterated his original testimony that Joachim not only shouted "Throw out the swine! Kill the dogs if they refuse to go!" but that he also threw crockery and glassware at the French party.

The attorney for the imprisoned men will petition the military court for a writ of habeas corpus as they are being detained under the jurisdiction of Minister of Defence Noske.

PARIS, March 11.—A version of the attack on March 9 in which men believed to be members of a French military aviation commission at Wernitz, near Potsdam, published by the semi-official Wolff bureau of Berlin, says guards caught the men poaching and fired shots as they were summoned to halt, according to a dispatch to the German capital. The Frenchmen fired at the guards, the bureau version asserts.

The Frenchmen who were attacked declare that only two of the party carried hunting pieces, and these men fled without firing, while two others ran in another direction, the other four surrendering. Volleys were fired at them, they assert even after one of the fleeing men fll mortally wounded.

The conference of ambassadors today decided to send the German government a very firmly-worded note demanding immediate application of the penalties provided for the outrages suffered by officers of the inter-Allied commission to the Baltic States during the German evacuation of this region which has hitherto been delayed.

The conference decided to demand again that the government at Belgrade order the evacuation of Kedkersburg, which is still occupied by the Jugo-Slavs contrary to the provisions of the conference.

A NEW SPIRIT

"The old order changeth, giving place to the new." How very apropos these words are to the spirit of the present day. Whether the time was ripe for a change in the attitude of men to things which for generations had been regarded as the accepted and the permanent order, and all that was lacking was the given opportunity to bring them into effect it is hard to say, but certain it is that the end of the war found the world in the mood for far-reaching changes. The difficulty with which this new spirit is confronted, however, is that there is much confusion of thought and great diversity of action respecting the manner in which new conditions are to be created. Instead of war and tribulation bringing tolerance and goodwill amongst men, it seems to have bred more bitter intolerance than has been manifested since the Middle Ages.

For example, in this Western country, where tolerance and liberty of thought and action—at least until very recently—had been characteristic of people of all races and creeds ever since the founding of the colony called British Columbia, we cannot understand why the people of the Province of Ontario should consider it necessary or expedient to maintain a perpetual and apparently bitter feud with the inhabitants of the Province of Quebec, nor why the descendants of the French in Canada should manifest such utter distrust of the motives and sentiments of their brothers of Anglo-Saxon lineage. Yet rancor prevails and persists and is manifested in many ways and in divers places. When Quebec ranges herself on one side of the political fence which divides the Dominion, Ontario takes up her position on the other side of the imaginary line and views are exchanged which are not calculated to be conducive to that peace and harmony which should be characteristic of a people engaged in the grand work of building a great nation.

Then consider the situation in Ireland. We think the conditions prevailing there could not by any possibility be duplicated in this more tolerant part of the world. But we are not so sure even of that. Even here there is a spirit of unrest and aspiration for what seems to be the unattainable that is breeding intolerance between classes and between individuals of corresponding classes. Still The Colonist is optimistic and firmly believes that in the natural course of events the balances of judgment, at present unevently adjusted, will swing back to normal positions.

MEAT GLUT IN BRITAIN

Whatever the prospects of Britain may be in respect of supplies of general food commodities, there seems to be little prospect of a meat famine there. The Grain Trade News and Livestock Journal, of Winnipeg, publishes an article printed in the Wellington Journal and Shrewsbury News which ought to remove all apprehension in regard to British meat supplies, and may create some speculation as to the manner in which the stock already in hand shall be absorbed and what the effect may be in this country. The article is dated February 7, 1920, and says:

"The Exchange Telegraph Company understands that at the present moment the country is experiencing an unprecedented glut of the colonial meat supplies. The whole of the Port of London Authorities' cold storage and other commodities is full to the utmost possible limit, and in consequence meat ships from Australia and New Zealand are lined up in the Thames awaiting to discharge their great cargoes. At one time recently no fewer than fourteen ships carrying the equivalent of 1,800,000 carcases of sheep were awaiting discharge.

"The present glut is so great that it equals, if it does not exceed, that of the Autumn of 1909, when for a time the wholesale price of mutton and beef dropped to as low as from 2d to 2¼d per lb. Some idea of the amazing quantities of meat in the country may be gained from the fact that whereas the average consumption of imported meat is approximately 30,000 tons per month, the present arrivals total roughly 60,000 per month. To this must be added 100,000 tons of meat in stock in the United Kingdom, and also the fact that all the stores in Australia and New Zealand are crammed full of meat bought by the British Government.

"Another factor which contributes is that ships laden with meat intended for Germany and the Continent are being diverted to English ports and adding to the congestion and glut, because, owing to the position of the foreign exchanges, Germany and other countries on the Continent are unable to pay for the meat ships that arrived from Australia in November and have only just completed discharge, while at the present moment there are in the Port of London alone five ships with Government cargoes from Australia and New Zealand which are held up and unable to discharge their cargoes.

"The food controller on Saturday issued orders reducing the maximum price of imported beef by 2d per lb., wholesale and retail."

IMMUTABLE LAWS OF COMMERCE

Canada has had her Food Controllers and her Paper Controllers and her Boards of Commerce. The Food Controllers have gone, the Paper Controller has gone and the Chairman of the Board of Commerce is no more, in an official sense. With the exception of the Wheat Board, we do not know that any other price regulating or commerce directing institution is effectively exercising its functions in Canada at the present time, and perhaps it would be just as well for the trade of the Dominion if the Wheat Board were to go the way of all the rest.

The value of the operations of the Paper Controller may be justly estimated from the fact that several newspapers in Canada have had to suspend publication for many days and some of them to restrict the number of their pages for like periods because the controller could not so control the operations of the mills as to supply the press of Canada with the raw material it required. The Controller after his resignation frankly admitted that he was not in sympathy with the objects he was selected to direct. Then, being a lawyer, he accepted a brief from the paper manufacturers to assist in thwarting the demands of the newspapers for supplies of paper at what were considered reasonable prices. He became an upholder of the laws of supply and demand, and the demand for paper from the United States determined the price of the article and created the channels through which it should flow.

The Board of Commerce doubtless was a beneficent institution up to a certain point. It had a restraining influence upon prices, but at the same time its price-regulating functions exasperated producers and caused some of them at least to restrict their output, putting consumers to considerable inconvenience. The shortage of sugar in this Province is a case in point. Whatever way the matter may be looked at, or from whatever angle it may be surveyed, experience proves that it is better to permit trade to flow in its natural channels, for commerce is like the wind, it "bloweth whither it listeth."

UNRIPE FRUITS OF INTOLERANCE

Pouring oil upon the fire of enmity which burns between Ontario and Quebec, a French-Canadian member of the Dominion Parliament declared that Quebec is a constant receiver of unjust treatment as a member of Confederation. Possibly that is so in view of French-Canadians. Certainly we are always being told that it is so. And yet where could French-Canadians be likely to receive fairer treatment than they have been accorded in the Canadian Confederation under laws framed by the Imperial Parliament? They have complete freedom there practically under the institutions they cherish as a distinct race living and thriving under the British flag. They have freedom of conscience and absolute liberty in the exercise of their religion. The French language is recognized by the State. It is spoken in Parliament and printed upon the statute books. It is one of the official languages of the country. They have their own schools in which their children are educated. Could they have any of these rights or privileges if Quebec were a state of the American Union, as some of the more ardent or thoughtless of their leaders sometimes have suggested? Could they have more if they were independent, as the Apostle Bourassa has occasionally advocated in his moments of extreme aberration? The level-headed leaders in Quebec affairs know that annexation to the United States is absolutely impossible and that independence under existing conditions is quite impracticable. In fact, Quebec is in reality the favored daughter of Confederation, and her wise men, whether in church or state, know it and appreciate it, and will be heart and soul against a change in any direction.

Sir George Paish, eminent British financial authority, says the Imperial Government, in order to maintain the most friendly relations with the United States, should abolish all preferential duties and place all nations upon an equal basis in the conduct of business with the United Kingdom. If the Dominions are given any substantial preference in the markets of Britain, that advantage is not such as to be particularly stimulating to trade in this country. If Sir George takes the position that the preferences given by the several Dominions to the Mother Country should be abolished by the Imperial Parliament, then we maintain that the eminent financial authority is not a sound constitutional adviser, inasmuch as the Dominions are mistresses in their own house and conduct their affairs without reference to the views of the Imperial Parliament or even to the opinions of eminent financial authorities. Sir George Paish's visit to the United States produced no very good results from an international financial point of view. In fact, he was repudiated as an agent of the British Government there and now he expresses views which might be productive of discord between Canada and Britain.

Retail merchants have expressed disapproval of a tax upon their sales, which is natural enough, but why do they suggest shifting of the impost to wholesalers? The unfortunate buyer and consumer, of course, is not entitled to any consideration at all; he will merely have to pay the tax, whoever collects it. For our part, if more taxes must be piled upon the back of the docile public, we prefer the French idea of soaking the bachelors. They have no friends, and do not deserve any. The shirker never was popular at any time or under any conditions.

There is woe and lamentation in one Victoria household today. The head of it on his way home accidentally dropped a package containing treasure upon the street, and the whole thing was immediately dissolved in a puddle of water. That individual has cause for legal action against the municipal authorities. His package contained—no, not liquor; sugar!

The Federal Government is said to be considering measures for the curtailment of luxuries. That is news which will have no effect whatever in raising protest or criticism from members of the once proud and arrogant Fourth Estate. Asceticism has perforce become an established principle with them.

Turkey has entered an alibi, which is to the effect that her massacring proclivities, like reports of Mark Twain's death, have been greatly exaggerated. Now the Sublime Porte will call for a commission of investigation, and thus time will be gained in which to set the domestic house in order.

If Prohibition Canada continues to drain Scotland of what is alleged to be the national beverage, very soon the equally alleged drouthy Scot won't have even a "wee drap left in the bottle for the mornin'."

We knew it would happen. The people of North Vancouver enjoyed the engagement between their representative and the Premier so heartily that they are clamoring for a repetition of the performance.

France is going to impose a tax on bachelors. Serves them right. There is one source of revenue that Federal, Provincial and Municipal Governments of Canada inexplicably thus far have overlooked.

The Government of the Isle of Man has gone on strike. If there is any line of industry that has not had a strike on its hands of late, surely the Manxmen have filled the vacuum.

Prohibition

Sir,—Will you please give me space to air my views on the prohibition question?

W. E. Perry, of Esquimalt, replying to Mr. Cumberbatch's letter, answers the question "why prohibit anything?" by asking the question "why prohibit crime?" He says drink leads to crime. Maybe so. A fire if not kept under control is liable to lead to serious consequences, but we don't prohibit fires on that account. We are taught how to control them under different circumstances. A knife is a dangerous article in the hands of some men, but we don't prohibit the use, or manufacture, of knives because somebody so far forgets himself as to cut another's throat. We take steps to get the individual who used the knife in a way it was not intended to be used, and place him where he can do no further harm. If a man forges a name on a cheque, the Government does not issue orders to discontinue the use of cheques. We try by imprisonment or other means to make the man quit forging cheques. The cheque itself is innocent, the knife is innocent, the fire is innocent and the booze is innocent. The trouble is with the man.

I have been a staunch tetotaller all my life. Never (to my knowledge) have I taken a drop of intoxicating liquor and I have seen something of the misery caused by the excessive use of liquor, but I would not vote for prohibition on a bet, for two reasons. In the first place, I don't consider I have any right to dictate to anyone what they must or must not drink. I would give them what I consider good reasons why they should leave it alone and if I managed to induce anyone to leave it alone I should consider I had done some good. In the second place, I don't consider prohibition will or can be productive of permanent results. Teach a man to look after his body, to take into his system only that which is necessary to maintain his physical and mental faculties at their highest degree of efficiency and results will be permanent.

W. GREEN.

Is Drinking Criminal?

Sir—Mr. W. E. Perry states: "Drink leads to crime. I daresay you anti-prohibitionists do not believe that, but that does not make it otherwise." Further on the usual with this gentleman. He falls back on the Bible, and what it says about drink and drunkards. Save me from the bigot. He again says, "Why prohibit crime?" Crime is not prohibited. The opportunity to commit crime is always with us. Man can commit murder with a knife or razor. Can you prohibit the sale of either? Goods in plenty are to be found in every store, hence the opportunity to thieve; poison can be purchased, hence the opportunity to commit suicide; prostitution, etc. The law punishes when the law is broken, and rightly so. The one difference between the prohibitionists and anti-pros, in my humble opinion: The prohibitionist is a bigot, fanatic, an extremist, a zealot, etc. The anti-pro is a man who wishes to be sane, to educate, not use force, to be just, one who knows that excess in all things is wrong, that by good example we teach to be moderate in all things (a Bible quotation).

The twentieth century real man does not require W. E. Perry nor any other man, hidebound to their own selfish ideas, never prepared to give the other fellow credit for being able to look through the clear glasses of his own mind, having taken off the colored dim glasses of the past, to be the dictators.

You cannot heal a sore by covering it up. It will simply spread and fester. Let in God's sunlight and wash it, keep it clean, and it will heal.

The prohibitionist by his methods has simply caused the disease to be hidden, and so long as his eyes do not see, he folds his hands across his breast and with a smug, hypocritical face says drink is gone forever, but he has simply covered up the sore. It will fester and spread, and eventually become a worse disease. "Oh, save us from the Pharisees!"

High Cost of Living

Sir,—Your correspondent of the 6th thinks he knows a whole lot about the H. C. L. If I were so adept with words and figures as he is, I would very much like to put my ability to a better use than trying to pull the wool over the public eye. I know people who possess both the gumption and ability he speaks of; even enough to buy and sell him before he gets up in the morning. They don't even indulge in the various luxuries of which he writes, but they do know that facts are "chiels that win'na ding," and even a soup bone costs more today than it did six years ago.

City Hall Slackers

Sir,—Have we no civic pride left, or what is the matter? Victoria is a beauty spot and has spent large amounts of money to attract tourists, yet we are continually overlooking small things which count. Where would you get a finer front than the Dallas Road? Yet how neglected.

The City spent tens of thousands years ago on a retaining wall, yet today the rails of it are pitted by neglect and the posts are smeared with rust for want of paint. The promenade in front is a weed patch. A few hours' painting, a few loads of sand, and some grass seed would soon fix this, and yet years have rolled by this unsightly neglect, and probably will continue to roll.

It is eight years since Dallas Road was asphalt paved.

It is four years since the breakwater was finished, costing millions.

It is two years since the piers were finished, costing more millions. Look at it today, the old boarding up, contractors' plant still lying around, the job left unfinished just for a bit of tidying up.

The City may say it is the Dominion Public Works Department, and it is in keeping with the usual sloppy governmental methods, but have the City authorities made any effort to get the Dominion Government to do the right thing?

Go to the nursery in the park and you will find it crowded with young trees that ought to be planted out. Why not fix up the Dallas Road so that we can put up a front to the world that would be worth while. "Where every prospect pleases and only man is vile."

Get up a campaign among the property owners to paint and fix up their houses and repair the broken down and dilapidated fences. Or if they have not got enough get-up to do it, let the City do it and charge it against the property.

Anyway, let somebody who is responsible, the Mayor, City Engineer, or even one live alderman, take up this question and remove a series of needless eyesores and make the Dallas Road look as if we had some civic pride and were not suffering from the sleeping sickness. Who will wake up is the question.

AUSTRALIAN LABOR CENSURES MINAHAN

LONDON, March 12.—The Labor party has cancelled its endorsement of Mr. Minahan as the party candidate for Sydeny in the forthcoming state elections for asserting that preparations had been made for declaring Australia a republic if the second conscription had carried, and for signing a pledge favoring the unconditional release of all prisoners, says a dispatch to The London Times from Sydney.

The dispatch adds that, further, Minahan has been barred from the Labor party fo. seven years. It is asserted that his statements were scaring a large moderate section of the community on whose votes Labor was confidently counting.

Mr. Minahan is a wealthy boot manufacturer and has been one one of the financial props of his party.

Against Double Income Tax

LONDON, March 12.—The report of the income tax commission recommends many important changes which will affect the framing of the Budget. The Dominions will be especially interested in the commission's finding against the double income tax being [illegible] Empire. Exemption limits, it is proposed, will be raised on bachelors to £150 and married men to £250, and it is suggested that co-operative societies profits be taxable.

May Tax Bachelors

PARIS, March 12.—A supplementary tax on the income of bachelors has been approved by the finance committee of the Chamber of Deputies. The income tax bill provides a scale of taxation of from 6 to 40 per cent.

VALDEZ FISHERMEN FEAR REGULATIONS

One Source of Livelihood of Residents of Island Appears to Be Threatened by New Restrictions.

GOWLLAND HARBOR, Valdes Island, B. C., March 8.—Great preparations are going forward in this section of the Coast for the coming fishing season, and while it is thought by the fishermen that good prices will be obtained for their catches this year, they are very apprehensive as to the future of the fisheries on the Coast by the inauguration of the new regulations this season. They are of opinion that with the palpable decline of the fisheries in many districts on the Mainland and Vancouver Island, the unrestricted use of purse-seines and fish-traps will cause irreparable damage to the industry and they look with gloomy forebodings on the future for their means of livelihood. A very large number of the settlers on the Coast and the Islands have to depend partly on the fishing for their living, as the clearing of the land is a slow and expensive business, but with a few months of the year trolling salmon for the canneries and city markets they are enabled to make a comfortable living.

Should there be a further diminution of the fish in the waters adjoining their small farms it will be a serious blow to the prosperity of the whole coast line of British Columbia. Returned soldiers are making inquiries as to the fisherman-farmer possibilities in this district, as the combination looks to them a greater certainty than the land alone for their future welfare. It is expected that a great number of returned men will find locations on this part of the Coast this year.

VALDEZ ISLAND SOCIAL CLUB MEETING

Reports of Successful Year's Operations—Big Panther Killed by Resident of Herriot Bay

GOWLLAND HARBOR, Valdes Island, B. C., March 8.—The annual general meeting of the Valdes Island Social Club was held here a few days ago and the report by President Gagne on the splendid financial condition of the club was enthusiastically received. Considerable money has been given for hospital and other charities, leaving a substantial amount to start the coming year. All the officers were unanimously re-elected for the ensuing 12 months.

A monster cougar, which had been prowling around the ranches on the Island for some time, was shot by Mr. Weeks, of Herriot Bay, who will receive the usual bounty of $25 and $50 from the farmers of the Island, who thus encourage the destruction of this pest, and who are very much in pocket by that means of protection for their cattle.

TWO ENTERTAINMENTS GIVEN IN NANAIMO

NANAIMO, March 12.—Forty local minstrels gave a clever and hilariously humorous evening to an enthusiastic audience last night at the Dominion Theatre. Messrs. G. and J. F. Carrigan, Weeks and T. Allen in a Chinese musical novelty act made a great hit; Mr. A. L. Gardiner, in sleight-of-hand work; Messrs. Lambert and Lawson as acrobats, and Messrs. McAlpine and G. Weeks in a novelty duet, were much appreciated. The orchestra was under the direction of Dr. Ingham. The show will be repeated tonight.

Last night's programme of St. Andrew's Church Choir concert was well received by an appreciative audience. The glees and choruses, both mixed, and men's and women's, were artistically rendered under the baton of Mr. Andrew Dunsmore, with Miss Morgan at the piano. Mr. D. Hyslop and Mrs. W. F. Drysdale gave vocal solos, and Miss Fisher several selections on the violin. A social gathering was held after the concert, when Mr. Dunsmuir announced "A Nicht Wi' Burns" as the next popular concert, about the end of April.

Only [illegible] was required for the five years' expenses. The officers elected last night who will carry out the work of supervising the payment of Nanaimo emergency appropriation grants were: President, Mr. John [illegible]; vice-president, Mr. J. C. ABOUT UNEMPLOYMENT IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

OTTAWA, March 12.—In the House today Dr. H. S. Beland, Beauce, read from a "Windermere" cable in the Montreal Star, dealing with a reference in the British House of Commons to the case of a discharged British soldier and sailor who had come to British Columbia, and then after three days went to the United States because British Columbia was full of unemployed Canadian soldiers. Dr. Beland said this matter had been introduced by a member of the British House.

Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, said he had no information regarding the case in point, but thought the situation was well under control.

DENHOLME CASE STIRS ALDERMEN

Some Demand Detailed Reasons for Dismissal of the Stables Foreman — Flout City Engineer's Claim

Hints that the City's works department has been experimenting in a new kind of "engineering" involving the manipulation of officials to serve ulterior motives of unnamed "higher ups" were dropped by aldermen at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the City Council, when a letter from City Engineer F. M. Preston, giving reasons for the dismissal of Stables Foreman John R. Denholme, was dealt with.

Ald. Todd demanded that the engineer be instructed to give further information and in this attitude he was backed up by several other members of the Council, but a motion supporting this request was beaten by the opposition of Aldermen Sangster, Patrick, Cameron and Dinsdale and Mayor Porter. Those who voted with Ald. Todd were Aldermen Dewar, Andros and Fullerton. Ald. Sargent declined to vote. A few moments later on a motion to receive and file the Preston report, Ald. Sargent joined the Todd forces and killed it. The situation is therefore as it was before the meeting, the dismissal of Mr. Denholme remaining in effect. Yesterday's debate, however, offered an opportunity for the Council to be tested as to where it stood.

Report Was Brief

Mr. Preston's laconic report was as follows:

"With regard to Denholme's letter to the City Council of March 6 and Dr. Boak's letter accompanying it, I beg to report that Denholme was dismissed because I consider that the department can be carried on quite well without his services. His ill health was mentioned in my letter of dismissal as a reason, out of kindness only."

Ald. Sargent held that Mr. Denholme should not be discharged outright. He repeated the suggestion he advanced Monday night that Mr. Denholme be granted two or three months' leave of absence during which he could secure new employment or given an opportunity to resign.

"We want to know more about this thing," declared Ald. Todd. "We want to know exactly why he was dismissed. So far I have learned only that he was dismissed because he was ill last year."

Was Once Efficient

When Ald. Sangster pointed out that it had already been explained that Mr. Denholme's services were not satisfactory, Ald. Todd countered with the assertion that for eight years Mr. Denholme had been in the service of the City, and that no complaint had been lodged against him during that time. He pointed out that when the department staff was reduced with a view to cutting down expenses and at the same time preserving efficiency, Mr. Denholme had been retained.

"What has come up to raise this breach between him and the Engineer?" asked Ald. Todd, who added that he believed in upholding the rights of a department head, although he held that the Council was entitled to ask questions.

"Some of the aldermen are inclined to be a little quiet on this subject," remarked Ald. Cameron. He maintained that the City Engineer should not be required to furnish additional details.

"I have said everything I have to say in my report," broke in Mr. Preston. "I have said as much as I am going to say."

Ald. Sangster, chairman of the Streets Committee, supported Mr. Preston and declared that Mr. Denholme was "not suited to the job."

Mr. Preston said that Mr. Denholme had been inefficient "even before his illness."

Ald. Todd Aroused

"That conflicts with your previous statement," asserted Ald. Todd, springing to his feet. "Before you stated that Mr. Denholme was dismissed because of illness. As far as efficiency is concerned, I have visited the stables myself and they seemed very well conducted."

Mayor Porter blamed Mr. Denholme for the advancing cost in garbage collection. "If he cannot get results, we should give someone else a show," he said, adding that personally he "liked Mr. Denholme very much, but business and sentiment are two different things."

Ald. Todd held that there was room for investigation into the cost of garbage collection. He argued that no information should be held back.

Ald. Patrick didn't see that the Council could do anything but support Mr. Preston's action, even if it did seem severe.

"The Engineer should not have let his heart run away with his brains," observed Ald. Andros, who felt that Mr. Denholme should have been frankly told he was incompetent—if that was the fact.

Ald. Dewar maintained that Mr. Denholme had been treated unfairly.

The motions were then put, with the result indicated.

WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB TO RESUME MEETINGS

Series Interrupted by Flu to Continue —Mrs. Charles E. Clarke Chooses Interesting Subject

All danger arising from the flu conditions now being considered as practically past, the Women's Canadian Club will on Tuesday next resume its regular series of meetings. The president, Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, has returned from Seattle, and will preside at the meeting.

Tuesday's speaker will be Mrs. Charles E. Clarke, who will give an address on "Our Ideals as They Affect Childhood." Mrs. Clarke, who is a member of the Women's University Club, is a fluent speaker, and her talk should be fraught with deep interest for the entire club membership. The meeting will be held in the Empress Hotel and at the usual time.

ORDERS ALD. TODD TO RETRACT WORDS

Mayor's Suggestion Disobeyed But He Finally Abandons Argument That Jitney Bill Was for Corporation

During the City Council discussion yesterday on Saanich's proposed motor bus service, Ald. Albert E. Todd said the City's private bill, seeking regulation of jitney traffic, was framed for thep rotection of the B. C. Electric Railway, and he was immediately called to order by Mayor Porter and asked to retract his assertion.

The alderman refused to withdraw the statement and, after attempting to substantiate his claims, finally gave way to the coaxing of Mayor Porter, supported by sharp verbal shafts from Ald. Patrick, and sat down.

The City's private bill in its reference to motor traffic and the proposed legislation sponsored by Saanich for the operation of a municipal bus system within the limits of Victoria were discussed at some length and with considerable spirit before the climax was reached with the clash between Ald. Todd and Mayor Porter.

Despite the protests of Ald. Todd, the Council adopted a recommendation from City Solicitor H. S. Pringle that the City's motor regulations as stipulated in the private bill take precedence within the city limits in respect to the operations of the Saanich bus line.

Ask Unrestricted Rights

Reeve George F. Watson, Councillor Thom and Municipal Clerk Hector S. Cowper, representing Saanich, argued in favor of unrestricted rights as to routes, etc., for the bus line.

Ald. Sangster claimed that Saanich was unreasonable in making this request and held that the bus line should be controlled just as effectively as any other automobiles operating for hire.

Ald. Sargent moved that Mr. Pringle's recommendation be approved.

"We do not want the prohibitory clause to apply to the bus line," explained Mr. Cowper. "We claim that when this service is inaugurated it will be a distinct asset to Victoria. It will be established to serve our people. We don't want to make it a monopoly at all."

"The City wants to be safeguarded against possibilities and not probabilities," declared Ald. Patrick.

"Surely you wouldn't have us go back to the prehistoric custom of the toll gate," remarked Reeve Watson.

Against Jitney Only

Ald Todd entered the discussion with the statement that in introducing the private bill it had been emphatically and specifically declared that the clauses were aimed against the jitneys and not against organized bus systems.

"Here we have a bona fide corporation, probably the most responsible municipality in the Province, undertaking to run a bus system," asserted Ald. Todd. "It defines its regulations and its routes, protects us completely, and yet we set out now to give a succeeding Council the chance to checkmate its plans."

Ald. Todd thought that Saanich was too reasonable. It should have pressed at the Legislature for duplication of rights held by the B. C. Electric on every street in the community. "Why we should be so fearful that Saanich intends doing something that will damage us is beyond my comprehension," he concluded.

The alderman then moved an amendment that Mr. Pringle's recommendation be endorsed with the additional phrase: "Subject, however, to right of appeal to the Public Utilities Commission." He said that the "other large corporation" had a right to appeal, only it was to the Railway Board instead of to the Public Utilities Commission.

Against Prohibition

Ald. Johns renewed his attack on the prohibition clause in the City's private bill, saying that regulatory powers were all that the Council required. Reasonable control would lead to more efficient service and cheaper fares, he believed. The City should help Saanich as much as possible, but it should remember that some day it might want to run its own motor bus system.

Ald. Sargent said that there were some aldermen who would do better as representatives of Saanich. They seemed to advocate things which even the Saanich Council itself had refrained from asking.

Opposition to submitting any dispute to the Public Utilities Commission was registered by Ald. Fullerton, who said that such recourse would make it a political point, no matter what government happened to be in power.

Ald. Cameron considered that Saanich should concede the right of the City's private bill to override Saanich legislation in city territory.

Lever For Better Bargain

"The way we feel about it is this: Victoria can use the lever of prohibiting the legitimate traffic of Saanich to drive a better bargain with the B. C. Electric," declared Mr. Cowper. "As a matter of fact, I doubt if you could stop our busses from running, anyway."

"It is ridiculous to suppose that the City would stop you, so long as you didn't interfere with city traffic," countered Ald. Sangster.

Ald. Patrick argued that the private bill had nothing to do with the bus line, despite the "persistent harping on that possibility." The clause simply asked for power to prohibit jitneys running on routes competitive with the B. C. Electric.

"This bill was framed to protect the B. C. Electric. We might as well admit that," said Ald. Todd, commencing what promised to be a fairly lengthy argument.

Ald. Patrick took the floor and called a halt to proceedings.

"I want the alderman to withdraw that statement," he appealed to the Mayor.

"Well, I don't intend to," said Ald. Todd, and he was about to proceed.

"I want him to withdraw that statement now," persisted Ald. Patrick. "He has no right to make such statements. I hold no brief for the B. C. Electric, but that statement is unfair and untrue."

"I won't withdraw anything," repeated Ald. Todd. "That's the effect of the clause."

Mayor Intercedes

"Ask him to withdraw that statement, Mr. Mayor," demanded Ald. Patrick. The Mayor finally spoke.

"I must ask you to withdraw that," said the Mayor. "You have no justification in making such a statement."

"I certainly have," Ald. Todd declared. "The alderman made the statement himself that the bill originated outside the City Council. I've been mixed up in this long enough to know where it started."

"That's an insinuation against this Council," exclaimed Ald. Patrick, again pleading for intervention by the Mayor.

The Mayor gave Ald. Todd another chance to retract what he had said.

"I won't withdraw anything," he replied.

"Then take your seat."

The alderman sat down. "I want my opposition to this motion recorded," he said.

"Same as the Johnson Street bridge," suggested Ald. Sangster.

"Just the same, exactly and perhaps that's out of order, too."

LIFT OFF CORNS WITH FINGERS

Doesn't hurt a bit and costs only few cents

You'll laugh. Apply a few drops then lift sore, touchy corns right off. No pain. Yes, magic!

A few cents buys a tiny bottle of the magic Freezone at any drug store. Apply a few drops of Freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a callus. Instantly that troublesome corn or callus stops hurting, then shortly you lift it out, root and all, without any pain, soreness or irritation. These little bottles of Freezone contain just enough to rid the feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes and the calluses on bottom of feet. So easy! So simple. Why wait? No humbug!

Moslem Students Demonstrate

TUNIS, Northern Africa, March 12.—Three hundred Moslem university students yesterday demonstrated before the French embassy to protest against the occupation of Constantinople by the British, according to a dispatch to The London Times. The French residents assured the deputation that the Allies were simply taking measures against a recurrence of the recent massacres, and that if France were called upon to interfere it would be a guarantee for the Moslem faith.

JOHN A. BRUCE & CO. LIMITED
HAMILTON Established 70 Years ONTARIO

City and District in Brief

Infringes City By-Law — James Gardner was fined $10 in the city police court yesterday for driving his motor car past a street car while the latter was standing to take up passengers.

Magistrate As Peacemaker—In the City Police Court yesterday a man was charged with assaulting his wife. After listening patiently for some time to a story of domestic infelicity, Magistrate Jay dismissed the charge with the advice to both parties that they should endeavor to become reconciled.

Esquimalt Election — Saturday, March 27, has been set by Judge Lampman as the date on which the election shall take place in Esquimalt to fill the position of Reeve, declared vacant by his honor's decision in the recent action of John Jardine against Reeve Lockley. The latter states he again will be a candidate.

High Cost of Paper—Paper of all kinds is the latest to take a jump in price. All kinds from news print up have advanced half a cent a pound. On Monday bond papers are to go up another one cent a pound, fancy papers and writing papers from one to six cents a pound. The increase in the price of envelopes is five per cent.

All Stock Held Here—All the stock in the Cameron Lumber Company is now owned by the Cameron interests and is held locally. The last block of capital stock, consisting of 1,449 shares, held by outsiders, was sold Monday to the Cameron Investment & Securities Co., Ltd., for the trustees of the bondholders of the Puget Sound Sawmills, Ltd.

Lecture on Sun Spots—Dr. Young, one of the scientists in charge of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Saanich Hill, lectured at the First Unitarian Church on Thursday night on the subject of "Sun Spots." Spectra were also discussed and the spectrascope by which the elements making up the sun are discovered by the color of their spectra. W. H. Huxtable had charge of the showing of all the scientific slides. W. L. Llewellyn, assisted by Frank Rand, presided.

One of Life's Little Ironies—Life is hard enough nowadays without this sort of thing happening, but as it happened it must be told. A gentleman stepped off the Foul Bay car about noon yesterday at the corner of May and Moss Streets, very carefully holding what appeared to be a small grocery package. He slipped in alighting and dropped his parcel, which broke in falling, and revealed its contents as about two pounds of sugar. It fell into a convenient puddle. There was language; there was speechless pantomime, and conjecturally there was an anxious wife at home.

B. C. Agricultural Association—At a meeting of the executive of the Agricultural Association held yesterday morning the committee received the resignation of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture, as president. Dr. Tolmie, in a letter, stated that his present position as a member of the Government made it impossible for him to continue as the head of the Association. Preparations for the big fair which is to be held here in the Fall were considered, and further arrangements will be made at a public meeting which the executive decided to call for March 24.

Persists That He Is Innocent—Rupert Kettle, in the City Police Court yesterday, maintained his plea of innocence of the charge of stealing a roll of wire netting from the warehouse of Messrs. E. G. Prior & Company, Ltd., despite a severe cross-examination by City Prosecutor Harrison. The police brought evidence to show that accused was seen to enter his cabin with the wire. The accused persisted in his story that the roll was brought to him by a man named Marshall, and that he was innocent of theft. Magistrate Jay remanded the case until today, to permit search to be made for the said Marshall. Mr. R. Lowe defended the accused.

Opium and No End—In the city police court yesterday Sing pleaded guilty, and Lee Dap Yik not guilty to the charge of being found in an opium joint on Fisgard Street. Sergeant Blackstock testified to arresting the men, and to securing the usual opium-smoking equipment which forms the court exhibit in these cases. Lee Dap Yik ran away when Sing was arrested, but was caught later. Yik explained his presence in the opium den by saying he had heard there was an opium raid on—at 3 o'clock in the morning—and he had just strolled in to see what was doing. He had been present at other opium raids, he said, and he left the impression that he regards these raids as incomplete without his presence. The fine was $20 and costs.

Thanksgiving Services Tomorrow—Following the successful result to date of the Diamond Jubilee-Peace Thankoffering fund in connection with the Anglican Forward Movement, the Bishop of Columbia urges general observance tomorrow in all churches throughout the diocese of the request of the Primate of the Church in Canada appointing Sunday, March 14, as the day upon which, in the public services of the church, thanksgiving shall be returned to God for the great spiritual blessings, which (by common report of the bishops and clergy) have accompanied the Forward Movement, and for the generous response to the financial appeal.

Last Band Concert—As so many requests have been received for the inclusion in the final G.W.V.A. band concert tomorrow night at Pantages Theatre of numbers which have already been given during the season, Bandmaster Miller has had to compromise by choosing the compositions which he felt would meet with the greatest amount of favor. Owing to the extreme difficulty of securing vocalists for the occasion, it was decided to limit the solos to instrumental numbers already arranged for. It is an excellent programme, which is to include, among other numbers, the Overture to Mendelssohn's "Ruy Blas," and the announcement that Miss Maude Scruby, the well-known 'cellist, is to play Popper's "Dance of the Elves" in the second half of the concert (accompanied at the piano by Miss Long) will be sufficient to induce many to attend for this feature alone. The other instrumentalist is to be Mr. A. G. Griffin, player of the euphonium.

CONGRATULATES BOYS OF NAVAL BRIGADE

Mr. Gordon B. Jackson, Secretary of the Dominion Navy League, Addressed Lads Last Night at St. John's Hall

Very hearty congratulations were brought by Mr. Gordon B. Jackson, secretary of the Dominion Council of the Navy League of Canada, who last night addressed the Boys' Naval Brigade and their friends at St. John's Hall. Introduced by Lieut. Hotham, Mr. Jackson told about the Boys' Naval Brigade work in Toronto, saying that although there the boys had the advantage of the very best of equipment which had been furnished by citizens who were keenly interested in the work of the brigade; while they had a depot ship properly fitted for the training of the lads in matters pertaining to seamanship, yet the Victoria boys struck him as being enviably well disciplined and imbued with the spirit of individual responsibility for the honor and esprit of the whole brigade.

Another feature of Mr. Jackson's address was that he called attention to the fact that a great many people were under the impression that the Navy League of Canada was composed of a lot of "old men and women," whereas, as a matter of fact, it was composed of hard headed and bright minded business men and women, who had very keenly at heart the bringing up of boys in a manly way. The league held among its principles that the inculcating of the spirit of the Navy in the lads of today would be the safeguard of the Empire of tomorrow; nations of the past had survived only so long as they kept their navy strong.

Lieut. H. F. Helmsing, R.N.C.V.R., delivered for the sixtieth time his lecture on the Zeebrugge Raid, the lads showing much interest in the story. Mr. Creed sang a solo and the boys' fife and drum band played before the evening was over.

Director Anthes Arrives

VANCOUVER, March 12.—L. L. Anthes, director of the information and service branch of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, Ottawa, accompanied by Thomas A. Stevenson, deputy director, arrived in the city yesterday from the East. While on the Coast the officials will inspect the work of the department in British Columbia, and generally supervise the preparations for the increased activities of the branch expected this Summer.

Floods Add to Distress

BRANSON, Mo., March 12.—Flooded streams today added a further menace to life and property in Southwest Missouri, where yesterday a tornado killed at least 13 persons, injured a number of others and did huge property damage.

FOUNDATION OFFICERS WINDING UP CONTRACT

Remaining Equipment of Local Holdings Will Be Disposed of at Once—Several Applicants for Site

Mr. Frank Quilter, treasurer and a director of the Foundation Company, of New York, arrived in the city yesterday in course of an inspection tour of his department in the great Foundation enterprises. He was accompanied here from Seattle by Mr. Bayly Hipkins, vice-president and Pacific Coast manager for the company, and Mr. Edward E. Jenkins, the company's Northwest manager; and was met here by Mr. J. S. Connell, manager of the Foundation Company of B. C., Limited, of Vancouver. Mr. James Freeborn, of New York, and Scott Calhoun, of Seattle, are also members of the party. They are staying at the Empress Hotel.

This is Mr. Quilter's third visit to Victoria, having been here last when the production on the big twenty-ship contract of the Foundation Company for the French Government was on its highest plane, during the latter part, of July last year. The payroll that period was at the rate of $600,000 a month. He then witnessed the launching of The Montmagny, sponsored by Mrs. S. F. Tolmie, wife of the Dominion Minister of Agriculture. That was the twelfth hull completed on the contract.

Other Prospects for Site

The Foundation party are here attending to the final details of closing up the yard and disposing of such equipment as is not desired by the company for other works they have in hand. It is likely that the remaining holdings of the company will be disposed of before the officials leave and the site will then be turned back to the Provincial Government for any other industrial operations that may offer.

In this connection it is understood that, in addition to the application for the site that has been filed by Captain E. V. Argon for shipbuilding purposes, portions of the area have been asked for as sites for the location of the proposed paper mills of the Sidney Rubber Roofing Company and a yard for the recently formed company of returned men for the construction of smaller ships.

Trade Rivalries

Business in the bazaar today and for some months back has been bad indeed, in the estimation of some of the traders there, trade is about as bad as it can be. In times like the present, when a business depression seems to have settled down upon the community, the causes of which are difficult to place, the small trader is the one who comes to grief. When a township is overshopped, the consumer ought to come into his own. It certainly looks as if we are in for a spell of keen competition to catch the trade. Probably the result will be as Robbie Burns said long ago: "It's an ill-wind that blaws naebody guid."—Uganda Herald.

SAANICH NURSES HANDLE MANY CASES

Total of 246 Cases Attended in February, Bringing Total of Visits to 1,161—Working Fourteen Hours

The February report presented at the monthly meeting of the Saanich branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses last night showed that there were 246 cases nursed during the month and 1,161 visits made by the two nurses, who have been working an average of fourteen hours a day, including Sundays. The number of deaths reported from influenza was two. Of the total number of cases in Saanich, 240 were new cases in February, the other six being from January.

The January report shows an average of nine hours a day on duty and a total of 75 cases nursed during the month, with 440 visits.

Last night's meeting decided to put on a third nurse, as one was to be used full time on school inspection work.

The February report stated that the Red Cross had donated $603.30 toward the purchase of a new car to replace one of the old ones. It will be known as the Red Cross car. The Red Cross also assisted in organizing a hospital on the Indian Reserve, where the influenza worked havoc, nine deaths having occurred in a week. This reserve does not come within Saanich municipality. Blankets donated by the Red Cross were very much appreciated. The Saanich Women's Institutes were also very generous in supplying various needed equipment.

A resolution of sympathy was passed last evening to Mr. R. Sewell, Saanich assessor and collector, who suffered an accident recently which resulted in a double fracture of a leg.

ARGUE THAT SCHOOL COSTS ARE GENUINE

Trustees Try to Convince Mayor and Aldermen That Estimates Should be Paid Out of General Revenue.

Before the City Council finally deals with the $423,000 estimates presented for ratification by the School Board it will probably secure from City Solicitor H. S. Pringle a report as to what items should legally be termed "extraordinary," and therefore subject to payment by by-law and not by appropriation from general revenue. A small committee representative of the Council and the School Board may be appointed with a view to reaching an agreement on estimates and, if possible, cutting down the total.

Yesterday afternoon members of the School Board conferred with the Mayor and Aldermen, and a list of proposed school expenditures aggregating $28,000, and which the Council a week or so ago held to be in the extraordinary category, was discussed.

Trustee J. L. Beckwith stated that these estimates were regarded by the School Board as essential, but in view of the city's attitude, a reduction of $7,800 had been made. He pointed out that extension of manual training and technical education did not involve departing from the course adopted some time ago, and that merely a broadening of the policy was sought. New equipment would be required, and possibly more teachers, but this should not be considered under the head of extraordinary expenditure, Mr. Beckwith argued.

Quotes Legal Opinion

When City Comptroller James L. Raymur referred to the School Act and pointed out that the purchase of equipment and furniture was regarded as capital expenditure, Mr. Beckwith came back with the statement that in 1911, while acting as Mayor, he had received a legal opinion from Mr. F. A. McDiarmid, then City Solicitor, to the effect that purchase of equipment and extension of existing schools did not constitute capital expenditure.

Mayor Porter said that this opinion would not bind the present Council. Mr. Raymur added that the act to which Mr. McDiarmid had referred was no longer in force.

Mr. Beckwith insisted that the cost of new annexes to existing schools and of new equipment should be met with maintenance funds, and did not constitute capital expense.

That City Solicitor Pringle should be asked for an opinion was suggested by Ald. Todd.

Ald. Sargent urged the appointment of a joint committee to go into the question of salaries. He believed that the proposed appropriation of $27,000 for salaries of new teachers and increases for salaries already in service was excessive. He contended that the School Board had not committed itself to any definite policy regarding salary schedules in 1920, and simply asked the increased appropriation to safeguard itself. He was opposed to granting the suggested $100 cost of living bonus, stating that persons receiving from $150 to $200 a month did not require this amount, especially in view of the prevailing poverty.

Teachers Underpaid

Trustee Aitken said that Victoria teachers were the worst paid in Canada.

That the City Council was now seeking to adopt a course that was not supported by precedent, was the claim of Major P. J. Riddell, chairman of the School Board. He said that in 1911 the Council did not think it was wrong to spend $45,000 and over in purchasing land for the present High School site out of ordinary expenditure. In 1913 the Council spent $10,370 in grading and levelling these grounds out of ordinary school account, and in the same year spent of the same fund $1,225.45 on grading work at the Victoria West School, $1,100 more being spent for the same purpose the following year. In 1914, he recalled, $1,327 was expended from ordinary account in grading the George Jay grounds.

Major Riddell, after explaining that this money had been appropriated by the Council without question, stated that twenty more teachers would probably be necessary this year to meet the demands of Victoria's fast-growing school population. He pointed out that there are 600 more pupils at the city's schools this year than last year.

Shortage of Teachers

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The U.S. Bureau of Education reports a very serious shortage of school teachers through failure to provide adequate salaries. On Feb. 13 last, when statistics were collected, there were 13,279 schools closed through the lack of teachers and 31,900 being conducted by teachers characterized as "below standard, but taken on temporarily in the emergency."

OPPOSITION CLAIMS ANSWERS IMPROPER

Takes Exception to Replies Given by Minister of Lands and Contention Upheld by Mr. Speaker

The Opposition scored a point yesterday in the House when Mr. Speaker upheld the contention of Mr. Jones, Conservative member for South Okanagan, that answers given by the Minister of Lands to questions put concerning the lands taken over under the Soldiers' Homestead Act, of 1916, were not properly given. The member had asked if particulars of the lands taken over had been supplied to the Land Settlement Board. The Minister had replied that the records thereof were open to inspection by the Board.

That was not a proper answer, Mr. Jones claimed, but it was of a piece with other answers returned by the Ministers.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo opined Mr. Jones was like a lawyer who demands "yes" or "no."

"I want an answer to my question. I want no motives imputed to me."

Premier Oliver proceeded to give the Opposition members one of his periodical lectures on the proper manner of asking questions and the scope which, under the rules, is open to them in that direction, stating that many of them were improper or were subject of a motion for a return. He claimed that some of the questions asked had no basis of fact. One he took exception to was that addressed to the Minister of Public Works relative to the trip by the latter to a convention at Ottawa and whether he was accompanied by one Farris, and was the latter a brother of the Attorney-General.

Mr. Jones averred he had been requested by the Advisory Board of Farmers' Institutes to put the questions. They were a matter of interest to that body.

Mr. Speaker read the question and held that the Minister of Lands should have answered with a straight "yes" or "no."

Mr. Bowser interjected himself into the argument to state that it was apparent there was not that co-operation between the Department of Lands and the Land Settlement Board there should be. It was quite a proper question to ask what had been done with those lands taken over.

The Premier objected to questions seeking information as to the relationship of certain persons with members of the cabinet, claiming they were put, not for the purpose of gaining information which could be of interest to the public, but to convey an insinuation that something was wrong.

Mr. Bowser confessed he could not see why the Premier should be so sensitive in giving information to which the Opposition was entitled. He congratulated the Premier on being so prompt with his replies but he regretted he could not say the same for the Attorney-General.

"All questions should be answered frankly so as not to leave the impression there is something to hide," said Mr. Speaker.

"When I was on the other side of this House I and other members of the Government had directed at us many questions framed by a gentleman from Delta who did not then occupy the exalted office he now holds, and they asked concerning my brother and my connection with the firm of Bowser, Reid & Wallbridge. Those questions were answered promptly and frankly. Now why object when you get the same questions?" said Mr. Bowser.

Hon. Dr. King referred to recent questions asked by Mr. Bowser relative to whether the former Government had refused to entertain the claim of Laidlaw & Ritchie, contractors, for some $3,000 for extra work on the Vernon Court House. Dr. King had replied in the negative, but on objection by Mr. Bowser that that was an incorrect answer, had consented to look over the department's file again. Yesterday he stated he had done so and there was no record of any such refusal.

Mr. Bowser accepted the statement so far as the files of the department went, but showed that the claim had been turned down by the former cabinet though that decision had not, apparently, been made a matter of record on the files of the Department of Public Works.

JUGGLING LIQUOR

The Former Commissioner Borrowed From Western Canada Liquor Co. —Bottles as Evidence

That there must have been a certain amount of juggling in liquor under the regime of former Prohibition Commissioner Findlay was suggested by Mr. Bowser, Opposition Leader, when further consideration of the accounts of that wet goods department of the Government was had in the public accounts committee yesterday morning. On one occasion Findlay had borrowed some $7,000 worth of liquor from the Western Canada Liquor Company, and he asked why it had not been bought outright.

Comptroller-General Mouat stated he could not say, but the liquor was received by the Government and afterwards paid for. It was shown that during the last fiscal year under the Findlay regime he had bought for the Government some $57,730 worth of liquor from that company.

Mr. Pooley asked regarding a charge of $56 made by the Thiel Detective Agency for empty bottles.

Mr. Mouat thought that they had probably been used as evidence before the Royal Commission.

In connection with a bill for repairs to the Campbell Storage warehouse in Vancouver, which, Comptroller-General Mouat stated he had not as yet seen, Mr. Manson asked if the new lease taken of the Storage Company's premises at an increased rental of $50 a month did not give about double the former space used by the Government.

Mr. Mouat stated he understood that was the case, but as yet it had not come to his department.

TIRPITZ WAS FOR DESPERATE COURSE

Would Have Staked Everything on the Chances of Naval Engagement With Britain at Start of War.

The special correspondent of The Boston Christian Science Monitor, writing from Germany, says that Admiral von Tirpitz, if he had had his way, would have risked everything on a naval engagement with Great Britain at the outset of the war, and cites the following documentary evidence in support of this opinion:

Following upon a conversation with Admiral von Pohl, in which the latter had pointed out the danger for Germany that lay in a possible naval engagement, Admiral von Tirpitz with some reluctance agreed to ponder the arguments to that effect and asked Admiral von Pohl to refrain from making a statement to the Kaiser concerning the next movements of the fleet until he had come to a satisfactory conclusion. On the following morning Admiral von Pohl received a characteristic letter from him, in which he said:

"1. Admiral von Ingenohl's report of the 12th inst. serves to confirm my opinion that we shall never achieve an equilibrium of forces by so-called guerilla warfare.

Policy Was to Fight

"2. The aim of our entire military and administrative policy during the past twenty years or so has been a battle. That is the reason why we are bound relatively to have the best chances in one. On account of our numerical inferiority it will be necessary to manoeuvre matters so that we need not fight far away from Heligoland.

"3. Our best chance for a successful engagement would be about two or three weeks after the declaration of war.

"4. The chances for it would be worse rather than better for us in the future because there is a bigger increase in construction in the English navy than in ours, and it remains in constant practice.

"5. Added to this, the present splendid spirit in our navy must suffer, if no hope of a battle can be entertained.

Belief in Equal Losses

"6. The main thing is to have sufficient confidence in our fleet to believe that the English would suffer more, or at least as many, losses as we should ourselves. Personally, I possess this confidence. The decisive moment for battle can only be judged, in my opinion, by the man responsible for it—that is, the Lord High Admiral. He, too, must have sufficient faith in himself to carry the spirit of victory in his heart. In the world's history the smaller fleet has almost invariably beaten the bigger one.

"7. I cannot see the use of preserving our navy intact till peace be declared. If we get peace after such a dreadful war as that of 1914 without the navy having suffered we shall never get anything more done for it. The money left over—a small sum in any case—will be spent on the army and His Majesty the Kaiser's great endeavor to raise Germany to a naval power will have been made in vain.

"8. We shall have to wait a little with the engagement at present until Turkey has definitely joined in the fray and till the decisive battle has been fought in the west.

Stakes Too High

"9. I do not consider it right to send out the three big battle cruisers at our disposal without other fighting units and help, against the probable enemy blockade line at Lindesnaes, as it seems to mean that the stakes at this point are too high for the eventual profits.

"10. If Admiral von Ingenohl still thinks a special co-operation drill of the third squadron necessary because two new ships are added to it, it will be difficult for us here to deny him his wish of sending the squadron to the Baltic, although I do not consider this co-operative training so important for an engagement.

"11. It is very difficult for me to see, then, why Konig and Grosser Kurfurst were ever brought over to Wilhelmshaven and why the opportunity afforded at the time in the Baltic was not used to make a much more earnest and impressive dash against the Gulf of Finland and the Russian fleet and to practice as much squadron drill on the way back as necessary. At the time the strict principle of concentration was used as an argument against it. Have times changed then so suddenly?

(Signed) "VON TIRPITZ."

SURPLUS CLOTHING GOES TO FRANCE

The Paris correspondent of The London Times gives the following account of a deal in civilian clothing between the British War Office and the municipality of Paris:

The Municipality of Paris has decided to buy from the British War Office 50,000 lounge suits, which are acknowledged to be not of a stylish cut, at the price of 145f each, which is less than £3 today. These are to be sold at about 175f apiece. Possibly the purchase of another 200,000 will follow. These suits are part of a surplus stock originally destined for demobilized soldiers, 400,000 of which have already been disposed of to Switzerland and Roumania.

The news of this purchase has not been well received by the Paris tailoring trade, for it is realized that if there had not been a Government bicker French tailors would have made the suits from French-made material. Thus work would have been given at home, and simultaneously France's imports would have decreased by the same amount.

The War Office Liquidating Commission here has for disposal sufficient cloth for the purpose of making the above number of suits, and could part with it at a reasonable profit, allowing the suits to be made at about the price of the British offer, but they want to sell at market price and make 100 per cent profit. The price defeats the end, and, furthermore, a Government office is not to be encouraged as a profiteer. For these reasons the Paris Municipality preferred to place its contract with the British.

MANY FOREIGNERS LEAVE UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, March 12.—Prohibition is causing so many foreign born to leave the United States that emigration is exceeding immigration, according to Congressman Isaac Siegel, a member of the House immigration committee.

Ellis Island records today showed that immigration since January 1 totalled 53,000, while 61,000 persons left the country. Most of the latter have gone back to Poland and Czecho-Slovakia to stay. It is estimated that the figures for March will be 35,000 departures and 24,000 arrivals.

WOMEN WAR POLICE CONTINUE IN PEACE

Commandant Dawson, Head of British Service of Women Police, Conducting Campaign of Education

The Women Police Service, which was started by Miss Damer Dawson at the end of 1914, and which did invaluable work during the war in many of the great munition factories and elsewhere, is now settling down to peace time activities.

Propaganda in regard to the Women Police Service, Commandant Damer Dawson, O.B.E., declared recently, is every bit as necessary today as it was when the service was first started. The statement may at first occasion surprise, but it has to be remembered that the Women Police Service is quite distinct from the Women Police Patrols or other bodies of policewomen who form part of the men's police service. In many important respects the Women Police Service is carried on on original lines and differs fundamentally from the men police service, and therein, it may be added, lies its special value.

No Wrongful Arrests

When Miss Damer Dawson originated the idea of a body of trained policewomen, she had in view certain definite ideas from which she has never departed. For instance, she realized clearly that a women police service, to be successful, must be planned, staffed, and controlled by women and not be merely a women's department under the supervision of men. For this reason she has resolutely insisted on keeping in the hands of the chiefs at the Women Police Service headquarters the selection, training, appointing, and promotion of their members. Men, she considers, for various reasons, are much less well qualified to make a correct choice in selecting a policewoman for any particular post.

The chiefs of the service on the other hand, know it from top to bottom, and certainly the way in which their policewomen have made good wherever they have been established proves with what wisdom the appointments have been made. It is undeniable that the service has attained a high degree of success, and the fact that there never has been a case of wrongful arrest and imprisonment chargeable to the service is a record of which they may justly feel proud.

Provincial Tour Proposed

Commandant Damer Dawson hopes that some day the Government will decide to take over the service intact, to be worked independently on its present lines as a women's department, and not merely as an appendage to the men police service. Indeed, it is to be regretted that after the demobilization of the munition factories the Home Office did not take over the whole machinery of the service as it stood, as until the State assumes financial responsibility for the service its activities are necessarily more or less restricted.

One of the chief needs of the moment, in order to extend the service, is to educate the country as to the value and methods of the women police. With the object, therefore, of getting the work more widely known and understood, the commandant and sub-commandant have recently undertaken a provincial tour, and have personally interviewed chief constables in various places, to urge the appointment of women police. With the same object in view they have also addressed public meetings to arouse interest in the work and point out the necessity for policewomen.

Twenty-Nine Towns Supplied

Twenty-eight towns in England and one in Ireland, Belfast, have now been supplied with policewomen from the service. In addition, four units are working in London, while 18 other units are employed in factories and elsewhere. An important department has been opened for the finding of lost girls under a specially appointed intelligence officer. The department has grown into a large one, and parents from every part of the country write to the service for help, and obtain it. In London an inspector has been appointed and is now in charge of a large playground for children in Paddington. This inspector is particularly successful with the children and has a wonderful way of maintaining order and amusing them.

Another branch of the work that lies very near Commandant Damer Dawson's heart is a home for babies, which was started little more than a year ago at Aldington, in Kent. The home is a large country house, on the outskirts of the small Kentish village, overlooking the Romney marshes. It was started from a fund contributed by policewomen in various parts of the country who had long felt the need for such a home, supplemented by donations and subscriptions from interested supporters. The urgent necessity for the home is shown by the fact that already there is need for extending the work, which will be done as soon as it is possible to raise the necessary funds.

"EVERYWOMAN'S" GOWNS INTEREST EVERY WOMAN

The significance attaching to the screen version of the superb Paramount-Artcraft picture, "Everywoman," arises not alone from the notable character of the play itself—long since a great and universal favorite among those who love the beautiful in stage representation—but from the exceptional production and cast that has been given the production by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

In the search for those best suited to the many roles in the picture-play, every effort was expended to secure those who were ideally suited to the parts. As a consequence the happy choice of Violet Heming to play the title role of Wanda Hawley as Beauty, Theodore Roberts as Wealth, Raymond Hatton as Flattery, Irving Cummings as Passion, Bebe Daniels as Vice—and so on. Those who recall the splendid work of these players in former Paramount-Artcraft offerings, will also recall their especial fitness for the parts assigned to them.

George H. Melford was chosen as director and surrounded his production with the most sumptuous background; settings that reflect the skill of the artist and designer in a superlative degree.

Beautiful Gowns Interest Women

The gowns in particular are a feature that will interest the feminine contingent—gowns that rival the most modern models from Paris or New York centres of fashion.

There is a beauty chorus of hundreds of girls wearing costumes that are said to be superior to any stage musical comedy or spectacular production that has been seen on Broadway.

The filming of the picture was done in California, where the massive sets were erected on the enormous studio stages. The especially effective scenes include the banquet of Wealth, the court of King Love I., the street scene in New York on New Year's Eve, etc.

The scene wherein "Everywoman" makes her debut in the theatre is a sumptuous one, and interesting from the point of view that the setting showing the production of an extravaganza was staged at the studio, the complete stage and other features being erected on one of the studio stages.

Fatty Arbuckle will also be shown in his new comedy "The Hayseed." The two attractions will be shown for the entire week, commencing Monday.

MR. H. D. PARIZEAU TO HEAD COAST SURVEY

Chief Dominion Hydrographer W. J. Stewart Here to Install Successor to Late Commander Musgrave

Mr. W. J. Stewart, chief of the Dominion Hydrographic Service, arrived in the city yesterday on an inspection trip for his department. He is accompanied by Mr. H. D. Parizeau, whom he will install, while here, as the head of the Canadian Hydrographic Survey on the British Columbia Coast. Mr. Parizeau will succeed the late Commander Musgrave, R.N., in the position.

Mr. Stewart stated last night that the work of his department will proceed along the lines followed during the past few years and no special developments are anticipated for the immediate future. The Pacific Coast section of the work is increasing in importance with the growth of the Western Canadian frontier in the commercial activity on the Pacific Ocean, and he is grad to have been able to install so capable a member of his staff as Mr. Parizeau to succeed to the duties of the late Commander Musgrave.

Mr. Parizeau has been in the Canadian Hydrographic Survey for a great many years and was well known in that connection on this Coast about eight years ago when he carried out some important exploration, principally in the region of Prince Rupert. He has since been actively engaged on Hudson's Bay and more recently on the Great Lakes.

S.C.R. DIRECTORS VISITING THE COAST

Mr. L. L. Anthes and Thomas A. Stevenson, of Ottawa, Inspecting Work of Department in B.C.

L. L. Anthes, director of the Information and Service Branch of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, Ottawa, accompanied by Thomas A. Stevenson, deputy director, has reached the Coast from the East. While here the officials will inspect the work of the department in British Columbia and generally supervise the preparations for the increased activities of the branch expected this Summer.

Speaking of conditions relative to the returned men throughout the Dominion, Mr. Anthes states that everywhere there promised to be a great demand for labor as soon as the Spring activities commenced, and the indications were that there would not be a sufficient number of men to supply the demand of the employers.

There have been approximately 30,000 unemployed returned soldiers in Canada during the Winter, but with the opening of seasonable occupations it is anticipated that employment will be found for all these.

The two directors expect to spend about ten days at the Coast before returning to the East.

VON ALVENSLEBEN GOING TO BRAZIL

Erstwhile German Financier Just Released From American Internment Camp Intends Going South

Says the Vancouver Province: Alvo von Alvensleben, who used to handle the Kaiser's millions in British Columbia, hopes to recoup his shattered fortunes in South America. But first he wishes to come to Vancouver for a spell, though he realizes that he can not hope to re-establish himself here. He says he is anxious to straighten out some matters for former friends in this province—then it will be Rio for him.

Accordingly an application for permission to cross the boundary line will shortly be sent to the immigration authorities at Ottawa.

A former member of The Province staff now resident in Seattle met Alvo von Alvensleben there on Tuesday and sends the following account of his conversation with the ex-Kaiser's former friend:

"Alvo's imprisonment has left its mark on his face and in his general appearance. When he arived in Seattle Monday he wore a long beard which had grown while he was in the internment camp. On Tuesday he had shaved his whiskers and was looking more like his old self. But the old imperious bearing, the dash of other days, has departed. His face bears the imprint of many weary hours in Fort Douglas prison.

Wants To Face Creditors

"I would like to make it clear," said Alvensleben, "that I am not trying to return to Vancouver in an effort to recoup my losses. I want to go back and face my creditors and try to straighten matters out somewhat. As a matter of fact, I owe more money in British Columbia than I ever hope to recover from the properties in which I and my clients in Germany were interested. But there are a number of affairs which I am sure could be settled up and I am anxious to give my former business associates a square deal. I am under no real obligation to return to B.C.," he said, "and it would be infinitely easier for me, and save me a lot of trouble, if I went straight to South America. There is nothing to prevent me doing so, if I obtain the necessary permit to leave this country."

In a lengthy statement Alvo reviewed the series of incidents which eventually led to his incarceration after the United States went to war. He attributed most of the "misunderstanding" to the fact that a New York reporter quoted him wrongly that he was back in America to serve the best interests of his country as a civilian. He declared Tuesday that he had come back from Germany, at the outbreak of war, in the interests of his business clients to try to save some of their holdings.

During his spell in prison Mrs. Alvensleben and her children have been living in Laurelhurst, a Seattle suburb, and Alvo has now joined them. From a remark that he made to the effect that he now looked to South America as a new field for his activities, it would appear that he regards himself as an exile from his former country. He said he would probably go south as soon as he had straightened matters out in Vancouver.

FAMOUS CATHEDRAL SUBJECT OF LECTURE

Mr. R. S. Day Describes Canterbury for Audience at Provincial Library Last Night—Wonderful Lantern Slides

It is quite easy to believe the statement of Mr. R. S. Day, who lectured before the Arts and Industrial Institute last night, that some of the views projected on the screen in illustration of the talk are among the finest examples of lantern-slide photography known. These slides afforded the listener most realistic glimpses of the vast structure, both from within and without, being not only excellent in themselves but the lantern being unusually well operated.

Mr. J. C. M. Keith introduced the lecturer, in the unavoidable absence of the chairman of the Institute, and quite a large audience was present, despite the rain. Mr. Day commenced his talk with a brief history of Canterbury and Kent, remarking that Kent was the only part of England retaining its old Briton name, while Canterbury itself meant Kent-man's-borough (or town). The existing Cathedral, known to Englishmen and to travellers from all over the world, having been rebuilt on the site of the ancient monastery church of St. Augustine, which was almost totally destroyed by fire in the Eleventh Century, presents examples of the Norman and later styles of architecture, among the particular features of the great edifice being mentioned the Bell Harry Tower, built in 1495; the Norman crypt, dating back to 1575; St. Gabriel's chapel; and the famous porch. In some detail was given the history of that most notable of events in the history of the Cathedral, the murder of Thomas a Becket in 1170. Several of the lantern slides showed the wearing away of the stones by the multitudes of pilgrims who in later years visited the shrine of the sainted Archbishop, and the lecturer did not fail to add something about the penance performed at the tomb by King Henry, whose impetuous words were directly responsible for the death of "the troublesome priest." Becket's crown, containing the stone chair on which the Archbishops of Canterbury have been enthroned from time immemorial, was also shown.

Among other very interesting slides shown in the course of the lecture were several of the monuments, among them that of the Black Prince, of Henry IV. and his consort; the tomb of Cardinal Morton; various aspects of the nave, choir, crypts, etc., all illustrating the marvelous grace and richness of the work. Close up views of the carving on some of the capitals of the pillars revealed subjects somewhat unecclesiastical but marvellously executed. The speaker called attention at several points to the mixture of architectural styles to be found in the Cathedral, different parts of which had been completed at widely various times. While some dated back to the early English and Norman, the rersdos and stalls, for instance, were modern.

Mr. Day was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks at the conclusion of his interesting address, the operators of the lantern slides being included in the expression of appreciation.

YOUNG DELINQUENTS TO HAVE THEIR CHANCE

British Industrial Schools Are Doing Great Work in Saving Children — Women Magistrates Will Assist

Nothing could show more clearly the present attitude of the British Home Office toward reformatory and industrial schools than the conversation which The Daily Telegraph reports between a representative of that journal and Dr. Arthur Norris, the chief inspector of such institutions.

"We want the industrial schools," he said, "to have their proper place in public estimation, and to remove any lingering stigma there may be attaching to them. I hope the view that inferior forms of training are good enough for undeserving boys and girls is now quite dead. The more difficult the children the greater the need for uplifting their minds, widening their interests, and strengthening their characters—in brief, the greater the need for giving them the best education obtainable.

"I don't minimise the difficulty that confronts us from some people, and some local authorities. They say that it costs more to educate the children of bad parents than we devote to those of good parents, and that is an encouragement to bad parents. Still, I feel that it is more economical to the nation in the long run to train these youngsters to be self-supporting.

"In the past there have been voluntary subscriptions, but these have mostly ceased, and in the last few years the cost of industrial schools has been borne by the local authorities and the Treasury, but the schools have lacked sufficient funds to carry out our wishes. The Treasury has now made a new arrangement by which it will pay one-half of the cost of maintaining industrial schools approved by the Home Office, on condition that local authorities sending children pay the other half.

"I want the local authorities to realize that it is worth their while to give these boys and girls such education and training as will make them self-supporting and good citizens. We do not want to rear another race of untrained, helpless people. I have told the school managers that they must work in the spirit of the new Education Act. They must get rid of the part-time system, and carry on continuation schools for those over 14.

"The children's courts commit to the industrial schools boys and girls from the ages of 8 to 14 years, and they may stay till 16. There are some between 5 and 8 years, but we have a strong desire to board these out. Four or five industrial schools in the country are for day scholars, but the rest are school homes. Our aim is to raise the status of the schools, and to give the children a really good primary education and training, and in so doing train their character.

"Don't think that the children cannot be trusted. Wherever there are decent homes we encourage the children to go home for a day and at Christmas for a longer vacation. They are put on their honor, and come back to the day and hour. I want people to regard the boys as normal boys, receiving a normal training, and able to take their place in the world as normal citizens.

"I look forward to the appointment of women magistrates with great hope. I believe they will take a real interest in the children, and in future will very largely have the dealing with children's cases. At present a police magistrate sits in the children's courts, but I believe that this work will be gradually turned over to the women justices. They will follow up the youngsters in their after-careers. Today the industrial schools keep an eye on the boys for three years after they leave, and find that the best person to make inquiries is some friendly member of the school staff, who has helped in the training of the boy. We absolutely insist that the police shall not be employed in such inquiries."

Jimmy Wilde Shows Decided Superiority

American Aspirant to World's Flyweight Title Is Decisively Outpointed—British Champion Aggressor Throughout—One Round Only Credited to Mason

RINGSIDE, COLISEUM, TOLEDO, March 12.—Jimmy Wilde, of England, British flyweight boxing champion, tonight decisively outpointed Frankie Mason, of Fort Wayne, Ind., the American aspirant to the world's title.

Throughout the battle the plucky Briton was the aggressor. He carried the fight in all but one round, the fifth, when Mason braced himself and put the Englishman on the defensive. Two of the rounds were even, the fourth and tenth. The ring, which was 21 feet square, gave the little American plenty of room to jump away from the Britisher.

Mason started to bleed from the mouth early in the battle, but he wore a smile of confidence, while the little Briton, from the time he entered the ring, seemed set and determined.

Time and time, Mason, when urged on by his enthusiasts, attempted to break through the Britisher's guard, but the plucky little Briton dodged, feinted, shifted and retaliated with a right and left, chasing the American about the ring.

After the fight Referee Smith declared never in his life had he seen a young fellow or any fighter who was so willing to carry or mix matters as Wilde. Smith was of the opinion that it was a very even match, but declared on the rules of the commission he was not at liberty to announce the winner.

Mason stepped through the ropes first at 10 p.m., closely followed by Wilde and referee Ed. Smith, of Chicago. In Wilde's corner were Benny Williams, of England, and Al Thompson, of Cincinnati.

Mason's chief second was Jimmy Barry, former bantamweight champion, assisted by Ralph Cook.

The Fight by Rounds

Round 1—The men did not shake hands. Wilde landed the first blow, a little right to the head, and two more jabs to the head. Mason landed right to jaw. Wilde landed left to stomach. Mason landed right uppercut, Wilde swinging to Mason's body. Mason jabbed twice. Wilde hooked to body.

Round 4—Wilde put straight right to jaw and left to body. Wilde put left to Mason's face and right to stomach. Wilde landed hard right to body. Mason landed right cross and left hook. Wilde covered up when Mason landed hard left to head. Mason jabbed four hard lefts to jaw without return.

Jimmy Forces Fight

Round 6—Wilde landed left. Wilde tried to force the fighting, Mason showing great foot work. Wilde jabbed left to jaw. Mason tapped Wilde three light lefts. Mason missed hard right. Wilde scored hard left to face. Mason is bleeding at mouth. Wilde scored two light lefts to head.

Round 10—Wilde put left to jaw, left to body and right to jaw. Wilde put left and right to face, Mason countering with right to body and left to face and forced Wilde to ropes with right to chin. Mason was smiling. Both missed rights and lefts in a hard clash as bell sounded.

Round 11—Wilde landed straight left and they indulged in long-range boxing. Mason scored right to body. They stood toe to toe slugging, Wilde forcing Mason to break ground. Wilde forced Mason to the ropes with lefts. Mason landed straight left to face. Wilde put over hard left hook to stomach. Wilde crossed his right, driving Mason backward. Wilde's last blow was the hardest of the fight.

Mason Clinching

Round 12—They shook hands. Wilde sent Mason back with left to head and landed right to Mason's chin. In a clinch Mason held. Wilde landed two rights to head, forcing Mason backwards. Mason landed two lefts and then clinched. Mason landed two lefts to body. Wilde countered with right to face. Wilde landed left to chin, Mason clinching. The gong sounded as they exchanged light blows in mid-ring.

The betting before the fight was at 10-to 8 in Wilde's favor.

Thatcher, the promoter, sought to have the bout made a decision affair for the international title, but Dave Hughes, Wilde's manager objected to those terms and the contracts were drawn up for a no-decision encounter.

Wilde will draw down $10,000 for his end of the bout while Mason accepted $5,000.

Otto Young, of Beaver Falls, Pen., knocked out Young Jarvis, of Toledo, middleweight, in the second round of the curtain-raiser.

Walker Bill Favorably Reported by Senate—Commission of Three to Govern Sport

ALBANY, N.Y., March 12.—The Walker bill, legalizing boxing in New York State, was reported favorably yesterday by the Senate judiciary committee by a vote of nine to three.

As finally amended the bill provides for 15-round bouts under a state commission of three at $5,000 a year, with a licensing committee of three who will serve without pay.

Boxing by youths under 18 years old is not permitted, and specific clauses of the bill prohibit the selling or more tickets than there are seats for a bout.

Too Many Broken Fingers Interfere With Shooting—Americans Say They Started Too Late in Life.

PARIS, March 12.—The officer cadets of St. Cyr have lately become most enthusiastic over baseball, which has been threatening to oust football from its usual place in their sports programme. The authorities have now stepped in and banned the new pastime, which they aver costs too many broken fingers and hence interferes with shooting practice and gymnasium. The senior medical officer, too, made a special report on the number of casualties he was called upon to deal with daily.

American experts in the game explain that the St. Cyr cadets fail to get their fingers out of the way of fast balls because they have taken up the game too late. To be really proficient, they should have learned the game as children and not as men of twenty.

MULDOON FIGURING ON LACROSSE SEASON

Says Vancouver and Westminster Will Once More Have Competition for World's Honors Alone.

According to an announcement made by Pete Muldoon, business manager of the Terminals lacrosse team, Vancouver and New Westminster will once more be the only contestants for the world's lacrosse championship during the coming season.

"We have given up the plan to have a third team in the league," states Muldoon. "We haven't the material and believe that we should confine our attention to the organization of one strong Vancouver club. We are already negotiating with two or three prominent Eastern players."

According to present plans a fourteen-game schedule will be drafted, the season opening early in May. An effort will be made to have the Eastern champions come West to play for the Minto Cup in the Fall.

The local aggregation will include the strongest players of the city, several having national reputations. Messrs. Babson, Dickey, Linden, Dr. Dalton, Dr. Peter, Bagley, Huber and several others will play for the locals.

FULTON COMING WEST LOOKING FOR BOUTS

SEATTLE, March 12.—Ferocious Fred Fulton is on his way West. Fulton will box in Portland the last of this month, and will probably be seen in Seattle shortly. Fred will meet the winner of the Meehan-Walker go in Portland.

The difficulty facing local promoters is to get a man good and big enough to oppose the giant plasterer. Fulton is one of the best heavyweights in the world, and the Parmers and Hectors and Rocks would have little chance against the Minnesota crack. Bovb Kruvosty has been spoken of as a possible opponent of Fulton, but Manager Thomas knows that the big fellow is too experienced for his young phenom, and will not listen to a match.

Should the matchmakers succeed in getting anybody to meet the plasterer, the bout would fill any hall in the city, because Fulton is considered one of the only men who can give Dempsey a scrap.

Skating Championships

NEW YORK, March 12.—The National Ice Skating Figure Championships will be decided here March 19 to 21, it was announced today. The meet will be held under the rules of the International Skating Union of America, and will include solo events for men and women, pair skating and junior championships.

MILLIONAIRES TAKE FIRST OF PLAY-OFF

Defeat Metropolitans by Three Goals to One After Dogged Fight—Vancouver Defence Played Wonderful Game

SEATTLE, March 12.—A game, dogged fight to break through a defence which refused to crack, ending in a continuous assault on the rival goal in the closing minutes of the game availed the Mets but one score against three scored by Vancouver at the Arena this evening, and the Millionaires left the ice with a 2 point advantage over Seattle in the final series for the Coast hockey championship.

The Vancouver defence never played better hockey, and this fact, coupled with practically all the breaks against them, proved an obstacle which the Mets could not overcome. The Seattle skaters fought desperately to sag the nets, but invariably lost the puck when within a few feet of the goal. Jack Adams, Lloyd Cook and Art Duncan proved too much for the Mets trying to work their way to within shooting distance, and, in the few cases when a red and green jerseyed player did take a pot at the nets, Hughie Lehman loomed as big as a house. Only once did the eagle-eyed Vancouver goalie fail to stop the puck, and on that occasion he had not a chance whatever to save.

Fatal Half Minute

Eliminate one half minute near the end of the first period, and the rival septettes would have been forced into overtime with the score tied 1 to 1, but in that fatal space of time Vancouver notched up a pair of goals, one more than enough to hand them the victory. And then, with a two point lead, Captain Cook called his players back on the defence, and, when a Met tried to work his way to the goal, he found the way blocked by four and often five Millionaires. The two teams battled evenly for the most of the opening session, alternating in rushes toward the rival goals, but the defences were on their toes, and the few shots taken were productive of no scores.

Mickey Ion drew the censure of the gallery when he ruled a Seattle man off-side after Walker netted the puck on a pass from Foyston, but the official held to his decision and the goal was not allowed.

The break came after 19 minutes of play. Harris brought the rubber down the ice, eluded the defence and passed to Roberts, who gave Holmes no chance to save with a shot from directly in front of the nets. One more goal was added to the Millionaire score a few seconds later, giving them their second counter. Skinner shot the puck across the front of the Seattle goal from way in the corner, the rubber hit Rowe's skate and caromed off into the goal.

Mets Take Offensive

Mets took the offensive at the start of the second period, and, with Foyston and Riley leading the attack, gave Lehman some busy moments. The Millionaire goal tender was right, however, and foiled each attempt. Bobby Rowe came within a hair's breadth of counting on several occasions, but, after stickhandling his way through the defence, would lose the puck to the last man. Vancouver had several chances to increase their total in this frame, but Skinner was too anxious and got ahead of the play time after time. Cook garnered the third and last Vancouver tally ten and one-half minutes after the start of the period, when his long shot from back of the blue line slipped by Holmes. The Mets made a strenuous effort to draw up on even footing with the Canadians, but one more counter was the sum of their efforts. Rowe worked his way down to the goal, drew the defence to one side and passed to Riley, who netted the puck. This proved the last score of the game, as Vancouver kept solely on defence on the last period. Often a Met coming down the ice would be blocked by the entire Millionaire team. The last few moments of the play saw Seattle throw caution to the winds and open up with everything they had. Rush followed rush and Lehman had several narrow escapes from letting the rubber get by, but the little break necessary to send one of the shot in was lacking and the final whistle found the Mets striving in vain to mark up a goal.

BOXER MEETS DEATH AS RESULT OF BOUT

NEW YORK, March 12.—Andrew Lockett, a student at Columbia University, was arraigned today on an affidavit charging him with homicide in connection with the death last night of Milton Sternfeld, of Albany, another student, after the two young men had engaged in a boxing bout at a class smoker.

Lockett was held in bail of $2,500 for a hearing March 15. Bail was provided.

JAP TENNIS EXPERT MAKING EARLY START

Ichiya Kumagae, of Japan, who was ranked as No. 8 last year in the "first ten United States players," is doing his lawn tennis championship hunting early this season. He is now playing in the Florida State Title Tournament and looks to be an almost certain winner. As soon as he has finished at Palm Beach, Ichiya will make a dash for Havana, Cuba, either by boat or airplane, and compete in the Cuban championship tourney on the courts of the Vedado Tennis Club.

From Cuba Kumagae will probably journey to Pinehurst, N.C., to compete in the annual North and South championship, starting early next month. Thus, by the time the outdoor season starts here, Ichiya may hold three new championships.

GAME IS PLENTIFUL WHEN WELL PRESERVED

Enormous Annual Bag in Pennsylvania Shows Value of Efficient Game Commission and Capable Wardens.

Pennsylvania is a great hunting state; possibly the greatest in the United States.

If you doubt this statement give those figures—the kill of the 1919 season—the once over.

2,719,879 rabbits, 439,106 squirrels, 237,001 ruffled grouse, 46,319 Virginia quail, 34,036 raccoons, 28,714 wild waterfowl, 27,767 woodcock, 15,658 ring-neck pheasants, 5,181 wild turkeys, 2,913 deer, 575 Hungarian quail, 472 bear.

The total weight of the kill of large game is estimated at 7,252,048 pounds, or slightly over 3,600 tons, which at 40 cents a pound would run a grand total of approximately $3,000,000 worth of eatable flesh of the most desirable kind.

The hunters know that Pennsylvania is well supplied with game, which is evidenced by the number of licenses granted in the last five years.

More Than a Million Hunters

Records show that 1,573,253 resident hunters and 3,388 non-resident hunters took out licences in the Keystone state.

There is still plenty of big game in Pennsylvania. There are so many bear in Potter and McKean counties that bre'r bruin is now pretty much of a nuisance and the Game Commission asked the hunters to go into those counties during the season and knock over a few.

The 2,913 deer killed weighed 278,690 pounds.

Pennsylvania is paying out about $1,700 a day as bounties for the killing of noxious animals. This money is taken from the licence fund. Seventy-five thousand dollars was taken from this fund for the purchase of deer last year.

The Keystone state has an efficient game commission and efficient game wardens and a wonderful game preserve system, providing sanctuaries where the game may breed in peace.

During this year 15 game preserves will be added to the number now being cared for. This indicates that the wild life is in no danger of extinction.

Pennsylvania has a Fish Commission separate from the Game Commission. Only 100 licences were taken out by fishermen in 1919 and no effort was made to have any one take out a licence, but this year it will be different.

LADYSMITH FIVE WILL PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Twice Postponed Match to Be Decided at Y.M.C.A.—Three Other Interesting Games Are Scheduled

Tonight's programme at the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium should prove one of the best of the season. The Ladysmith five arrive in town today and will meet the "Crusaders" tonight at 8:30. The Ladysmith team have been winning regularly up the Island, and are hoping to carry off the honors again tonight.

The "Pilgrims" Ladies team from Centennial Methodist will meet the First Presbyterian "A" Ladies' team at 7:45 p.m. This also should prove an interesting encounter, as both teams have been showing good form in the Ladies' League.

Tonight's Programme

Intermediates, 7 p.m.—James Bay vs. First Presbyterian.

Ladies' exhibition game, 7:45 p.m. "Pilgrims" vs. First Presbyterian. Referee, "Bob" Whyte.

CHAMPIONS UNABLE TO START IN TOURNAMENT

NEW YORK, March 12. — Miss Marie Wagner, six times holder of the women's national indoor tennis title, will be unable to compete in the national championship tournament, which starts here next Monday, because of an injury to her knee. Mrs. Geo. W. Wightman, the title-holder, is now on the Pacific Coast, and will not defend her title, it was said today.

SENATORS DEFEATED IN VANCOUVER GAME

Score Is Kept Down to Six-Four Chiefly Through Good Defence and Goal-Tending —Senators Fight Hard

VANCOUVER, March 12.—Vancouver Towers tonight defeated the Victoria Senators in the first game of the amateur championship series, by a score of six to four.

To Alex Straith and their defence the Capital challengers owe their salvation from a worse trimming than was administered.

With the local forwards boring in, especially during the last session, the boy guardian from the Island turned numerous apparently sure goals into the discard.

Although the Towers won the game, the Senators were in the fight every step of the way, Wickson, Fitzgerald and Burnett being particularly conspicuous.

In the first two periods the battle was rather even, but the local champions waltzed out in the final chapter and made good their efforts to get the edge on the invaders.

WANDERERS AND REST PLAY MATCH TODAY

Contest Is of Exceptional Interest in the Rugby World—Injured Players Will Benefit From Gate

At Oak Bay this afternoon the hitherto invincible Wanderers' Rugby fifteen will try conclusions with the Rest of the league, the match being arranged as a benefit for those players, unfortunately rather numerous, who have figured on the local Rugby casualty lists this season.

Apart from the fact that every ticket-holder will be contributing his little bit to the hospital bills of the boys who have been unfortunate enough to get badly hurt, the game should prove a strong inducement for everyone in the city who is interested in the best of British winter games to make Oak Bay Park his rendezvous this afternoon. The Wanderers have played a consistently fine game throughout the season and have proven without shadow of doubt that they are the best club playing Rugby in Victoria today, in spite of the fact that a large number of their players are in the veteran class as Rugby classification goes. Whether a combined team picked from the best available talent outside their club will be able to "put it over them" will be seen this afternoon.

The teams will be as follows:

Wanderers—Full-back, C. S. Williams; three-quarters, E. McCallum, B. R. Ker, W. B. Gaudian and S. Gillespie; five-eighths, D. M. Grant; half-backs, G. C. Grant and A. N. Robertson; forwards, H. Robinson, H. Barraclough, J. H. Wilson, M. Green, T. Matson, W. Watson and J. R. McIlree.

The Rest—Full-back, Hickey; three-quarters, J. Matson, Boss Johnson, Huxtable and Vincent; five-eighths, Gosnell; half-backs, W. Wilson and D. Grubb; forwards, Lewis, Clark, Norris, Monteith, Lowe, J. Johnson, Travis. Reserves, Lewis and John.

NO SQUABBLE OVER INTERNATIONAL GOLF

Yankees Arrange Dates to Suit Convenience of Probable British Entrants in American Classic.

England and America may squabble over a League of Nations, and they may differ over the partition of Fiume, but there is nothing but accord and harmony when the golfing interests of the two countries get down to talking national golf tournaments. It was with the announcement from Great Britain last week that the British open championship would be held June 28-30 that the way was cleared for the United States Golf Association to announce the national open championship for August 10-13 at the Inverness Club, Toledo, O.

The American open, in a word, depended on what the Britishers were going to do; for, having learned that a number of British professionals were desirous of competing in the American classic, the U.S.G.A. courteously waited for the older organization to select its dates first so there would be no conflict in the two big battles on the respective sides of the water.

International Team Match

And, with the announcement of the August 10-13 dates, the U.S.G.A. also directed that the international team match, of which so much has been said, should be played on August 7 at the Inverness links. In that match Harry Vardon, Ted Ray, George Duncan, Abe Mitchell and other British professionals are expected to represent Great Britain. The American team, outside Walter Hagen and Jim Barnes, remains to be selected. It will be named after it is known how many of the Britons will be here.

To emphasize the length to which the Yankees went to make everything agreeable for their British cousins, it should be remembered that heretofore the national open championship was almost invariably played during June. Then, to give the visitors more of a chance to earn a piece of change and to get another chance at honorable mention, the Professional Golfers' Association of America will hold its annual championship the week following the Inverness affair, the "pro" tournament to be held at Chicago.

A Four-Day Affair

Believing more satisfaction would result from having the qualifying round of the next open championship stand by itself, instead of allowing the qualification scores to count in the championship proper, the leading professionals urged this plan on the U.S.G.A. officials. The officials, from the fact that a four-day tournament will be held, absording to last week's announcement, have acceded to this request.

The argument used by Hagen, Barnes and others against the old system was that playing only eighteen holes a day induces a feeling of indifference. In such a frame of mind more than enough strokes are likely to be wasted to cost a man the title. Then again it happens, as was the case at Brae Burn, a man is thrown off his game through the "silly silly" actions of some partner.

In Great Britain they have a qualifying round which has no bearing on the main event, except to say how many shall continue. The open over there this year will be held at Deal, with the qualifying round the week before at the St. George's Hill course at Weybridge.

JACK JOHNSON SAID TO BE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 12.—A rumor well founded, spread like lightning through sporting circles on Thursday that Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, had spent two days in New York recently and had left for Chicago, where he had arranged to give himself over to federal authorities.

It is reported that Johnson arrived in New York from a Mexican port last Friday, called on several old friends and left for Chicago in time to surrender himself yesterday.

The first bowie-knife was made by R. P. Bowie, and not by Colonel James Bowie, as is often incorrectly stated.

Don't Miss It — A Huge Success

APPEARS TONIGHT FOR LAST TIME

"Officer 666," After Most Successful Run at Princess Theatre, Will Close Engagement This Evening

Tonight witnesses the passing of one of the most successful shows ever staged by the Princess Dramatic Society, and as it is the last performance of "Officer 666," a record attendance should be expected. Booking has been brisk, and intending patrons should not hesitate in securing their seats right away to avoid disappointment.

Friday night's performance was one of the most successful yet held, both from an artistic as well as a commercial view. Not a joke was lost, and it is safe to add thrill after thrill appealed to the merry audience.

Applause resounded on the rise of the curtain even before a performer spoke a line, thus manifesting that the crowd had come prepared to be pleased, no doubt prompted by others who had passed the verdict that "Officer 666" was a pronounced success.

As has before been stated in these columns, every actor is an artist in his or her respective part, and it is very doubtful if a better rendering could possibly have been offered by the original company itself. This is responsible for assiduous rehearsing, and the whole of the company made up their mind from the commencement that Mr. Hinck's "surprise" should go over.

There is just something so different about "Officer 666" that has caught on, and it is safe to predict that similar material will be waited for with zeal.

LARGE VARIETY AT ORPHEUM THIS WEEK

Bill Brim Full of Humor Is Offered at Popular Playhouse—Show Is Regular Gloom Chaser

Of the many excellent bills of variety fare provided at the Royal Victoria since the Orpheum circuit has been playing here, this week's bill excells all. The whole show from the beginning to end is of the highest class and a packed house went away congratulating themselves that they had had the opportunity of witnessing such a high standard of vaudeville.

The show was a gloom chaser. John B. Hymer and company, in "Tom Walker in Dixie" brought the house down. Mr. Hymer playing the part of Tom Walker, the negro character, kept the house in continual laughter. Tom wanted to make money fast, so got in personal touch with the devil. After feeding a friend of his some lead pills and stealing his money, Tom was sentenced to be electrocuted. Just as Tom is to be electrocuted the devil steps in—and Tom wakes up—all a dream. The slang expression through the four-scened act, "Come on Red," caused quite a bit of excitement.

"If a man has a wife of 40, can he change her for two of 20?" That is what Billy Montgomery wants to know. Billy was assisted by Minnie Allen, and gave a twenty minute act full of life. Singing was Minnie's long suit, but Billy sure was a wizard on the piano. On the programme they are called "That Clever, Crazy, Classy Couple," and they certainly lived up to their reputation.

Mlle. Nitta-Jo portrayed "Les Gigolette Parisienne," in English, "The Girl Apache of Paris." She rendered several French songs which were encored several times. The song that took the audience by storm was "Carry on Madelon." She is the possessor of a remarkable voice, which she uses to best of advantage. "Oh, What a Pal is Mary," sung in English, proved the favorite of the evening. All her songs were characterised in an exceedingly graphic way.

The Choy Ling Hee Troupe, the Chinese described as Oriental Workers, gave an interesting exhibition of stunts. From eating fire to various acrobatic tricks, the Orientals gave an excellent variety act.

Sam Berk and Juanita Sawan, interpreters of terpsichorean art, before an exquisite setting, offered a dance creation just a little different from what is usually seen on the stage. The enthusiastic encore accorded the partners was a proof of the successful turn.

Herbert Ashley, assisted by Roy Dietrich, had "something different," and every time either opened their mouths the audience was in an uproar. Parodies on popular songs were rendered, every one receiving a hearty encore.

The Billy La Mont Trio, Lively Steppers of 1920, gave an exhibition of tight wire walking. On a thread of wire the Trio did some really marvelous tricks. Dancing was the least of their troubles on the wire.

The usual All-Canadian weekly film concluded the most excellent bill that has ever been seen in Victoria. Though the weather was anything but clean, the house was well packed.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Dorothy Gish as "The Little Disturber," in the big Griffith's marvel of production "Hearts of the World" shewing at the Columbia today, shares the honors fully, living up to her title with unadulterated impudence. There is a splendid supporting cast of players and the orchestral accompaniment played in a way that seems to render vocal each pictorial emotion. There is no doubt that the music combined with the pantomime acting helped greatly in doing away with superfluous subtitles which so often break the charm of a picture and which are bloodily few and far between in this film.

VARIETY THEATRE One of the most interesting persons connected with "Checkers," the great Fox special production of the famous racing melodrame, which will be seen at the Variety Theatre today is Tammany Young, who plays the part of "Push" Miller, constant companion of Checkers, the happy-go-lucky lover of horse racing. Though still in his early twenties, Tammany Young probably knows more about horse racing than any other screen actor; and the reason for this lies in his eventful career. Tammany Young once was a New York newsboy. His district was Herald Square, then the heart of Broadway. His personality attracted the attention of such racing men as John W. Gates, "Pittsburgh Phil," "Father Bill" Daly, Riley Grannon and Devey Johnson, and speedily won their confidence.

DOMINION THEATRE Out in the wild and woolly movie West they call Thomas H. Ince "the screen star-maker." If you have any doubts as to his right to this title, survey the list of luminaries he has supplied to the screen during the past six years: 1913, Sessue Hayakawa; 1914, William S. Hart and Bessie Barriscale; 1915, E. K. Warner, Frank Keenan and William Desmond; 1916, Dorothy Dalton, Charles Ray, and Louise Glaum; and in 1917, Enid Bennett. Now Mr. Ince has done and done it again, presenting as his latest addition to the stellar ranks the team of Doris May and Douglas McLean. The great producer has had these two talented young people under his wing for two years now, and he has never picked a failure yet, so it is reasonably certain that they are destined for a joint career of success. But Mr. Ince has taken no chances. He recently paid out $47,000 for six cheerful clever stories by noted authors as starring vehicles for his new finds. The first of these is "Twenty-Three and a Half Hours' Leave" by Mary Roberts Rinehart, which has been made into a Paramount-Artcraft picture and will be shown at the Dominion today.

If visitors from the Orient, or the Prairies really knew Brentwood Hotel as it is at present run, it would be full up all the Winter. It is not!

PANTAGES THEATRE A big matinee feature at the Pantages Theatre today is the remarkable illusion offering of the Great Leon with his wonderful company and stage setting. Seldom will audiences in this city have the pleasure of witnessing a more satisfying exhibition of stage magic than headlines this week's variety aggregation. They probably never will have such a pleasure. His masterpiece, called "Fire and Water," raises a magnificent appreciation of Leon's cleverness. The five supporting offerings of this bill are excellent, and Neil McKinley, as the special added attraction, makes a riot of joy. The final chapter of "Bound and Gagged" concludes the story as a fitting climax for such a succession of thrills incorporated in a real good picture-story.

ROMANO THEATRE A photoplay starring Monroe Salisbury in the picturesque role of a Kentucky mountain blacksmith greets the audience at the Romano Theatre where the star appears in his newest Universal production, "His Divorced Wife," adapted to the screen from the magazine story "An Altar on Little Thunder." The scenes of the production are laid in and about the picturesque mountains of Kentucky and afford many opportunities for artistic settings, all of which have been utilised to excellent advantage by the cameraman. Douglas Gerrard was the director. The picture tells the old, old story of a poor, honest man who wins the love of a good woman and triumphs over more prosperous but less worthy rivals. But in the telling of the story Elmer Elliott Peake, the author, has employed many unique situations, supplied many dramatic incidents and drawn many contrasting characters which build up the interest of the play.

PICKFORD'S FIRST "BIG-4" PRODUCTION

When the United Artists Corporation was formed, the aim of the four stars—Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and D. W. Griffith—was to establish a medium through which to convey bigger and finer photoplays to the motion picture public.

Under this plan three pictures have already been released—two by Douglas Fairbanks and one by D. W. Griffith. Now comes Mary Pickford with "Pollyanna," her first "Big Four" offering, and the fourth film to be handled by the United Artists since the organization's birth, which will be shown at the Variety Theatre all next week.

Because this is her first production under the new arrangement of individual release, every effort has been put forth by Miss Pickford to make "Pollyanna" a bigger and better picture than anything she has ever done before.

In order that a real New England village might be photographed, Director Powell took the entire company to Independence, a town a mile high in the Sierra Nevada Mountains and the only typically New England hamlet in the West which had never before "posed" for a movie camera.

During the making of the County Fair scenes more than four hundred people appeared at one time before the camera. Only a few of these were professional players. Most of them were country folk who had come to Independence in response to an "ad" stating that the Pickford company would hold an old-time county fair. As a result "real" people were secured instead of actors, who at best could only pretend to be real.

The army of Clothaire II. was frightened from the siege of Sens by the ringing of the bells of St. Stephen's Church.

FIRST GOLD RUSH REVIVED BY NEW FILM

It has taken the genius of David Wark Griffith to bring the rich, romantic flavor of Bret Harte's stories of the California of the rough days of '49 to the screen. "Scarlet Days," the latest Griffith production, which will be shown at the Columbia Theatre all next week, tells a dramatic story of life in the olden days in a boom mining town in the San Joaquin Valley. The old Bret Harte characters are re-created and given that dashing Griffith touch that makes seem real. Alvarez, the chivalrous bandit; Randolph, the cultured gentleman from Virginia; Rosy Nell, the dancehall woman, and her pretty daughter from the Eastern seminary,—all these interesting people have been woven into a red-blooded story replete with thrills and heart-interest. Dashing Richard Bartholemess is the central figure. A really notable cast interprets the story. It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture and very much worth while.

NOVEL ENTERTAINER

Maxwell Schwartz, the singing whistler at the Pantages Theatre this week, is giving a sing-song at the Criterion Cabaret tonight.

Mr. Schwartz for the past few evenings has been dropping into the Cabaret after the show, giving a few songs. "Golden Gate Open For Me," "Peggy" and "My Baby's Arms" are the songs he will feature this evening.

Since the cabaret opened last Wednesday evening there have been large attendances. The management has decided to reserve tables, there being so many patrons disappointed, some coming a few minutes late and finding all tables filled.

OBJECT TO MEASURE

Medical Men Are Not in Favor of the Proposed Legislation in Regard to Opticians

Objection to the bill introduced by Mrs. Ralph Smith this week in the Legislature affecting the business of opticians and optometrists, was voiced yesterday morning by a deputation of doctors representing the Medical Council which waited upon the Cabinet. They urged that unless the opticians and others who would come within the scope of the bill were first required to undergo and pass an examination in diagnosis no such policy dealing with them as provided for by the bill should be permitted. It was pointed out that the objections were not inspired in any sense from any idea of the mercenary, but merely with the intention of urging safeguards for the public at large. To pass the bill would be giving the optometrist and optician a status, from the standpoint of knowledge, that he would not possess. The passing of the bill would not, it was argued, improve affairs the while it might have a serious effect upon the public, lulling the eye sufferer into a false sense of security.

Premier Oliver promised serious consideration of the representations made.

DOMINION CHEMIST EXPRESSES HIS DOUBTS

Prof. Shutt, of Department of Agriculture, Says "Radiumizing the Soil" Is Not Practical Possibility

Prof. Frank J. Shutt, M.A., D.Sc., F.I.C., Dominion Chemist, in the service of the Department of Agriculture, has submitted to his department, under date of March 8, a memorandum on "Lignaite," a fertilizer to be manufactured in this city, and as to claims made for which some publicity has been given in the columns of The Colonist. The memorandum is as follows:

"Dominion of Canada Department of Agriculture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, March 8, 1920.

"Memorandum on 'Lignaite,' a Compound for 'Radiumising the Soil,' Manufactured by The Canadian Lignaite Co., Ltd., Victoria, B.C.

"From the pamphlet, 'Radiumising the Soil,' it is learned that 'Lignaite is a radio-active fertilizer,' and is prepared by treating 'fine coal dust and coal ashes with certain chemicals in solution.'

"Any claim to value as a fertiliser, as contributed by the 'fine coal dust and coal ashes,' may be at once disposed of, since these materials do not possess appreciable quantities of the essential elements of plant food (nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash), and the presence of which characteristizes commercial fertilizers.

"No statement is made as to the nature or composition of the chemicals used in preparing Lignaite. We may, therefore, safely conclude that they do not add to the coal dust and coal ash any nitrogen, phosphoric acid or potash in forms available for crop use. If the chemicals used possessed any value as plant food, the fact, no doubt, would have been announced in the advertisement.

"That our conclusions in the foregoing are correct, and that Lignaite cannot be regarded as a fertilizer, as the word generally and technically is understood, is supported by the statement on Page 7 of the pamphlet, which reads as follows: 'The merits of Prof. Scammell's Lignaite are not found in the available nitrogen, phosphates or potash as in ordinary chemical fertilisers.'

"As regards radio-active properties, no statement is made in the pamphlet as to the radium content of the material. Indeed, careful perusal of the pamphlet fails to reveal any evidence that it is radio-active in any degree. Very little weight, therefore, can be placed upon the vague and indefinite statements throughout the advertising matter as to the value of the material on the grounds of possessing radio-active properties. It would not be at all surprising to find on examination that this product were entirely destitute of radio-active properties.

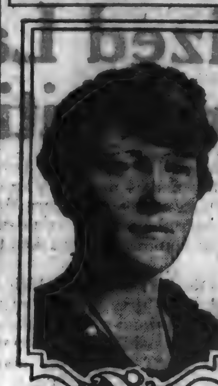

"As bearing generally on the subject of the use of radio-active substances as fertilisers, it may be stated that, so far as the writer is aware, it has not been found possible to appreciably increase the natural and ever-present content of the soil by the application of any form of radium ore. In the opinion of those who have investigated this matter, to accomplish such a result is an economic and scientific impossibility. Neither can it be shown that radium in radio-active materials is more active or valuable than that naturally present in the soil.

"Though results of scientifically conducted experiments are on record which indicate that radio-active material may have a stimulating effect on plant growth, these results are of a scientific interest only, and afford no evidence that such material will have any value in practical, everyday farming.

"Finally, the testimonials in the pamphlets are extremely vague, indefinite and unsatisfactory; they do not disclose the results of any comparative or carefully conducted experiments. Indeed they furnish no evidence, and must be unconvincing to all careful readers.

MISS MABEL S. DESCHANES, a popular and attractive young woman of Lewiston, Maine, is now an ardent champion of Tanlac, since she began using it a few weeks ago.

Miss Mabel S. Deschanes, a popular and attractive young woman residing at No. 7 Bartlett Street, Lewiston, Me., is now an ardent champion of Tanlac, since she began using the medicine a few weeks ago.

"I prize Tanlac above every other medicine, even that which was prescribed for me," said Miss Deschanes in relating her experience recently. "I dislike publicity, but there are so many others who, no doubt, suffer as I did, I feel that I ought to tell them about it.

"I had been a great sufferer from indigestion and had been under the doctor's care for six months without relief. At the time I began taking Tanlac I was on a very rigid diet and at times could not retain food of any kind. Even cold water would cause extreme nausea. I suffered from loss of appetite, severe cramping pains after eating, and extreme nervousness.

Finally my condition got so bad I simply had to give up and go to bed until I got relief. I was unable to go down town to do my shopping and, although I had been under treatment for six months, there seemed to be no relief for me. Honestly, I don't believe I would be alive now if I hadn't gotten Tanlac, for I was suffering terribly and getting worse all the time.

"Finally my sister persuaded me to try Tanlac. I improved from the very first and one bottle did me more good than the six months' treatment. Why, I actually gained four pounds in weight while taking this one bottle. I have now taken four bottles and I feel just like a different person and am eating just anything I want; in fact, everything seems to agree with me perfectly. I am now able to do my shopping without becoming fatigued in the least and am no longer nervous like I was.

Tanlac is simply wonderful, and I can not praise it too highly."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, druggist; and in Esquimalt by Robt. C. Lang. (Advt.)

ESQUIMALT'S MEMBER WILL BE DISCIPLINED

Attorney-General Is Peeved at What He Says Are Cowardly Attacks on Game Board's Chairman—Shows Heat.

Because Mr. R. H. Pooley, Conservative member for Esquimalt, dared to appear to be critical of certain accounts covering telephone messages, which, at first sight, appeared to the Public Accounts committee to show that Dr. Baker, chairman of the Game Conservation Board, had charged up to the Government, Attorney-General Farris will see to it that the member's request for a permit to be permitted to trap quail will not be granted by the cabinet.

With an exhibition of excessive heat, Attorney-General Farris, for the third time within the week, stood forth in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, and in defence of Dr. Baker, who is assuming almost the proportions of a national issue, further denounced the Opposition for what he declared to be the mean, cowardly, attacks upon the chairman of the Game Board.

He again referred to questions put by Opposition members respecting Dr. Baker's alleged dental work for inmates of the Boys' Home. On Wednesday, when he was defending the doctor, he had denied that the latter had done any work for any of the inmates of the Home, but he was checked up sharply by Mr. Bowser, who pointed to the fact that the public accounts showed otherwise.

Yesterday Hon. Mr. Farris, who had apparently looked up the matter overnight, admitted he had been wrong but he referred in sarcastic fashion to the Opposition leader digging up such small, unimportant facts in his effort to abuse the Board's chairman.

Then the remarks of Mr. Pooley, as reported in The Colonist, aroused the ire of the Attorney-General. He objected to them as indicating that Dr. Baker had charged up certain telephone messages to the Government, when, as a matter of fact, the investigation by the Public Accounts committee had shown that such was not the case. Especially was he angry at Mr. Pooley's reference to messages sent to ladies, the inference being that Doctor Baker was paying for his private messages out of public money. He recalled that Mr. Pooley had recently complained that he had been unable to secure a permit to trap quail. Probably that was the reason of his apparent animus against Dr. Baker, who had refused the permit, the application had been made over the head of the chairman to the executive council. The permit would permit Mr. Pooley to continue his nefarious work of destroying quail about the district.

"But he is too small even to get such consideration, and I intend to see that it is not granted," hissed the Attorney-General in Mr. Pooley's direction.

Mr. Pooley Explains

Mr. Pooley declared he had not, as the Attorney-General asserted, questioned the items in the telephone account. He had noticed them and had asked for further information relative to them. The fact was Dr. Baker's explanation of the items had been quite satisfactory to the committee. So far as any messages to ladies were concerned he had stated he did not desire to question them.

Mr. Bowser: When I spoke of that item in the public accounts I merely wanted to check the bad practice of the ministers in bringing down improper and incorrect answers.

Mr. Pooley insisted upon the Attorney-General withdrawing his insinuation against him that he had deliberately misrepresented the facts.

"Don't be so peevish," called Mr. Bowser across to the Attorney-General, who stated that by the rules of the House he was forced, he supposed, to accept the statements of the member for Esquimalt.

Heart Fluttering Easily Corrected

GOOD ADVICE TO FOLKS BOTHERED WITH PALPITATION, WEAKNESS, ETC.

If your heart flutters, be careful. An attack is liable to come on at any time. Excitement, over-exertion or emotion may cause it.

If blood rushes to the head, if palpitation and short breath are noticeable, there's cause for alarm.

If you want a good honest remedy try Ferrozone. We recommend Ferrozone because we know it's just right for heart trouble. It cured A. F. Beattie, who lives at Allen Hotel, Bay City, Mich. See if your symptoms resemble these:

Some Symptoms of Weak Heart

Nervousness,	Palpitation,
Trembling,	Dizziness,
Sinking Feeling,	Heart Pains,
Short Breath,	Weakness.

Mr. Beattie says:

"I was weak and miserable.

HAD ECZEMA For Over 28 Years

Eczema or Salt Rheum manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust is formed, and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat, is almost unbearable.

The success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in skin diseases of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties, and we know of no other remedy that has done or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Mr. James Walker, 152 Niagara St., Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have been using Burdock Blood Bitters for some months past, and find it an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. I have suffered with eczema for over 28 years, and have tried almost everything you could think of. I was recommended to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and I am now clear of my skin trouble. It is certainly a good remedy and I shall recommend it to all my friends."

FEDERAL GRANTS TO PROVINCIAL COLLEGES

The report for the fiscal year 1918-1919 of Dr. G. H. Grisdale, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture and acting commissioner under the Agricultural Instruction Act, has just been issued. Under this Act a grant of $1,100,000 was voted for the purpose of assisting the Provinces in the carrying on of educational and instructional work for the benefit of agriculture. According to the terms of the Act, agreements were entered into with the Provinces, defining the purposes for which grants should be used. The colleges and schools benefiting from the grant are: the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph; the Agricultural School at Kemptville, Ontario; the Macdonald College, and the schools of agriculture at Oka and Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere in the Province of Quebec; the College of Agriculture of the University of Saskatchewan; the agricultural schools at Claresholm, Olds and Vermillion in the Province of Alberta, and the College of Agriculture, in the Province of British Columbia.

AIM AT SETTLEMENT OF PRAIRIE LANDS

SASKATOON, March 12.—Mayor M. A. Brown, of Medicine Hat, explained at the convention of Saskatchewan Rural Municipalities here today the plans of the Western Canada Colonization Association. Industrial leaders had come to the conclusion, he said, that the way to build up industry in large cities was first to build up the basic industries, which in the case of this Province at least was agriculture. The association proposed to coordinate all immigration efforts with a view to getting the 20,000,000 acres of arable land close to the railways of the four western provinces settled up, and not only that, but to see that the settlers succeeded.

Commissioner Yorath, of Saskatoon, representing the urban municipalities, said that unless something was done soon housing conditions here would become intolerable. He also had advocated the appointment of a taxation commission such as they now had in Manitoba.

COMPLETELY CRIPPLED

Terrible Experience of Mr. J. Harrop

It is seldom that anyone who has been continually exposed to every weather condition does not contract some form of Kidney or Rheumatic trouble. In many cases, cold, settling in the kidneys, so weakens those important organs that they are unable to filter the waste and poison out of the blood. The latter is carried through out the body, causing uric acid to accumulate in the joints, with consequent rheumatism, stiff joints, swollen ankles, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, constipation, torturing pains in back and side and head. These ills can all be made right. Gin Pills give quick, certain and sure relief. Read what Mr. J. Harrop writes to us:—

"I have been crippled up so completely that I could not stand. Work was out of the question. A few doses of Gin Pills put me right. I cannot praise Gin Pills too much, and every home should have a box."

Gin Pills can help you. If you suffer from backache, or have that dreadful feeling of lassitude, with floating specks before the eyes, highly-colored urine, stone in the bladder and general debility, get Gin Pills at once. EXPLAINS BRITISH EMBARGO ON CATTLE

OTTAWA, March 12.—In answer to questions of C. A. Fournier, Bellechasse, in the House this afternoon, the Minister of Agriculture explained that the embargo on Canadian cattle exported to Great Britain was placed by the United Kingdom in 1896 on any cattle entering that country except for immediate slaughter.

The Canadian Livestock Commission had made representations to the British Government in 1896 for the removal of the restrictions as they apply to Canadian cattle. The Imperial Government had replied, said Mr. Tolmie, that it fully recognized that the embargo could no longer be continued against Canadian feeder cattle on the ground of disease, but that in consideration of the unsettled condition of British agriculture and the lack of confidence among feeders and breeders which would be created by removing the embargo, the Government considered it inadvisable to take any action in the matter.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Conversation by wireless telephone between passengers in a navy "blimp" high overhead and others in a motor truck stationed at Broadway and Forty-second Street today was heard by persons standing around the truck at a distance of ten to fifteen feet. The novelty was made possible, it was explained, through a recently-devised receiving apparatus.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing, and have head noises, will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them, and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

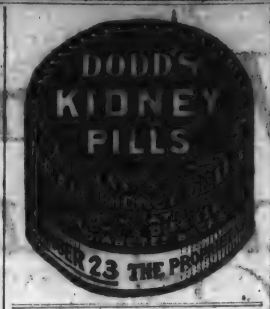

FAMOUS DESTROYER FLOTILLA DISPERSED

20th Destroyer Fleet, Mine-Laying Force of the British Navy During War, Allotted to Peace-Time Duties

The naval correspondent of The London Times herewith presents a picture of the minelaying flotilla of the British Navy as it functioned during the war. The famous flotilla is to be dispersed, and its units scattered over wide areas of the Seven Seas on the peace duties of the navy.

In a few days there ceases to exist the 20th Destroyer Flotilla of the British Navy, which became famous for its work as a minelaying force in the enemy's waters during the war, and was honored on one occasion by a special visit from the King, who went on board the flagship at Immingham. Minelaying by destroyers was unknown in the service in the early days of the war, but afterwards attained considerable importance. For its many achievements the 20th Flotilla created a record for gallantry, coolness, and daring which was unsurpassed. With the 6th Flotilla at Dover—the incomparable Sixth, as Sir Reginald Bacon called them—the vessels of the 20th Flotilla had the distinction of being perhaps the best known of all the destroyer flotillas of the navy, although the 3rd Flotilla at Harwich, composed of the "L" class, came into prominence in the early days of hostilities. In other cases it was generally individual boats, or smaller groups, which earned distinction. But the 20th Flotilla stood apart from all the rest, and its own special task, as the First Lord once explained, was to go through the enemy minefields and mine inside them.

Few of the new measures tried during the war with existing types of vessels had greater success than the use of torpedo craft for minelaying. The low visibility, high speed, and small draught of a destroyer made her very suitable for such work. It was early in 1916 that the flotilla leader Abdiel was converted, while under construction for duty as a minelayer. Her two after guns and both pairs of torpedo tubes were removed, and she was fitted to carry 80 service mines and sinkers on rails laid each side of the upper deck from amidships to the stern. By the Summer of 1918, about 30 other destroyers and leaders had been fitted to carry mines, and arrangements had been made that the minelaying equipment could be taken out and the original armament restored within 24 hours in case of the boats being required for their proper functions. This transformation was often effected in a much shorter time when occasion demanded.

H.M.S. Abdiel at Jutland

At the battle of Jutland on May 31, 1916, the Abdiel was the only destroyer-minelayer present on the British side. She was commanded by Commander Berwick Curtis, who was afterwards the captain of the 20th Flotilla, of which the Abdiel became the flagship. At 9.32 on the night of the battle Admiral Sir John Jellicoe ordered the Abdiel to proceed to lay a minefield in a defined area some 15 miles from the Vyl lightship, over which it was expected that the German Fleet would pass, if the ships attempted to regain their ports during the night by way of the Horn Reef. This operation was carried out with success, and from the evidence of a British submarine stationed near the Horn Reef, which heard several under-water explosions, it was concluded that some enemy ships had struck mines.

It was not for over two years that the public learned what was the nature of the Abdiel's work at Jutland, upon which there had been a good deal of speculation owing to her commendation in the Commander-in-Chief's dispatch. The Chief Naval Censor has recently stated that in editing the dispatch for publication, those vessels specially distinguished by their gallant actions were named, and others left out; but although details of these actions were given in regard to other destroyers, there was nothing to indicate upon what duty the Abdiel had been employed. It should be mentioned that the rows of mines were concealed from view by canvass screens which ran along both sides of the vessel. On these screens there were painted boats, davits, guns, and torpedo tubes, so that at first sight the Abdiel gave the appearance of an ordinary destroyer. A correspondent who frequently saw this odd-looking vessel said that the light and shade on the boats and davits did not always correspond with the actual position of the sun at any moment, but the blue sky and cloud effects were admirable.

An excellent account at length of the working of the 20th Flotilla is given in "H.M.S. Anonymous," by the officer known as "Taffrail," who actually commanded one of the boats in the flotilla. Picking its way through the tortuous passages between the minefields, both British and German, the flotilla used to go across to the Heligoland Bight at nighttime, sometimes twice a week, sometimes oftener. They had strict orders not to engage enemy patrols on their way in, unless actually attacked, and all minelaying had to be done by time, as flashing signals, and also wireless, would have revealed their position to the enemy. Added to the other dangers, a North Sea fog would sometimes be encountered which made the bows of the ship invisible from the bridge. On one occasion, after a bad collision, the flotilla managed to crawl home at eight knots, and occupied thirty-six hours on the journey, during which two destroyers were stationed astern, one to dash alongside the injured vessel to rescue her crew if necessary, and the other, with torpedoes ready, to sink the boat if the fog lifted and disclosed a superior enemy force. On one voyage, when nine destroyers went into the Bight, two were sunk by mines, and a third, commanded by "Taffrail" himself, had a very narrow escape from a similar fate.

A "Corps d'Elite"

It was in reference to the 20th Flotilla that Sir Eric Geddes, in a speech in July, 1918, said that the mines in the Heligoland Bight were laid "by one of the corps d'elite in the Navy." The fastest craft, and some of the best men in the Service, said the First Lord, were engaged in this minelaying. On a later occasion, Sir Eric said he would give the palm for the best, bravest, and pluckiest section of the British Navy to the men of this flotilla. Their duty lay in penetrating the German minefields of Heligoland and blocking the channels through which some German boats left and returned, and their trap mines led to over a hundred enemy craft being caught during the first six months of 1918. On one occasion, added the First Lord, four of our minelayers were seen by six German outpost boats, and the British vessels passed in, laid their mines, and on the return journey "mopped up" three of the German boats and captured the crews. This incident was revealed in detail in the Prize Court, when Captain Berwick Curtis and the officers and men of the Abdiel, Legion, Telemachus, Vanquisher, Ariel and Ferret were awarded prize bounty for the destruction of the German vessels on March 23, 1916.

Since the Armistice, the 20th Flotilla has been employed in the Baltic, but the conditions there have been such that little or no minelaying was undertaken, and the boats were employed mainly on patrol duties. In The London Gazette on January 23 the C.M.G. was conferred upon Captain Curtis for his valuable services in command of the flotilla in Russia. Of the help rendered to the Navy in the war by this flotilla's mining work it is impossible to speak too highly. Admiral von Pohl's memoirs, recently published in Berlin, contain a reference to a letter from Admiral von Ingenohl on September 18, 1914, in which the Commander-in-Chief of the High Sea Fleet complained that he could not run the risk of manoeuvring his ships in the Bight owing to the English submarines there. Such a risk must not only have been increased many times over when the waters of the Bight became sown with mines laid by the British submarines and destroyers, but must have had an important effect in breaking down the morale of the German seamen, and so contributing to the enemy's collapse.

1,000 Eggs In Every Hen

If You Keep Chickens, Cut This Out—Four to Seven Eggs a Week per Hen Through Cold Winter Season. With Eggs at Dollar a Dozen, Means $5.00 Profit per Hen in Next Six Months. Amazing Poultry Secrets Revealed By

AMERICA'S FOREMOST POULTRY EXPERT

This is an offer no reader of this paper who keeps chickens can afford to ignore. We will tell you why.

Henry Trafford, Famous Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of "Poultry Success," has developed a new and remarkable system of rearing, breeding and feeding chickens for heavy egg production that seems certain to revolutionize the poultry industry and give five eggs or more for every egg produced today. This plan or system is explained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 Egg Hen," a free copy of which will be sent to any person who keeps six hens or more.

Poultry keepers, following Mr. Trafford's directions, learn how to start young pullets laying early; make old hens moult quickly and resume heavy laying during entire winter season. Most any hen will lay in spring when eggs are cheap. Mr. Trafford tells how hens lay four to seven eggs a week during coldest winter days when eggs sell at a dollar a dozen or more. His system shows how any breeder, with ordinary care, may get 1,000 eggs or more from nearly every hen in five year's time at a net profit of $25.00.

There is big money to be made with chickens this winter by the man or woman who gets the eggs. The time to get the hens ready for heavy winter laying is now. Mr. Trafford's "1,000 Egg Hen" system tells how and arrangements have been made whereby any reader of this paper may receive one copy absolutely free by using the Coupon below. Send no money, but cut out the Coupon and mail it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, 486F, Tyne Bldg., Binghamton, N. Y., and the story of the 1,000 Egg Hen will be sent you by return mail.

What Organized Labor Thinks of Prohibition

Labor-leaders know the views of the workers as well as politicians know the wishes of their constituents, possibly better, for unionized labor makes its wants known in no uncertain manner. Consequently, when The Literary Digest wished to learn for its readers the attitude of the workingman regarding prohibition, inasmuch as we could not ask the individual union worker because there are about four million of him, we asked their duly elected officials.

In this week's number of THE LITERARY DIGEST—March 13th—a summary of the very interesting replies is published. Approximately thirty per cent of the 526 replies of labor-leaders inform us that a poll was taken on the question at the regular meeting. Replies came from every State in the Union, and they reflect a considerable sweep of opinion.

"Why don't you 'sick' the prohibitionists on the profiteers?"; "No man has a right to dictate to another what he shall eat or drink, except the doctor;" "There have been more deaths and murders in the period since prohibition went into effect than there were in the same period last year;" are a few of the many replies against prohibition. "Money which formerly bought whiskey is now buying happiness for the workingman's family;" "Men have more of the good things in life since the dry law went into effect;" "Since prohibition is in force, the workers are capable of clearer thinking and do more of it;" are typical expressions from the many leaders who favor prohibition.

If you would learn from first hand sources the real opinion of the workingman upon the subject of prohibition, you will do well to read THE LITERARY DIGEST this week.

HUN BLANDISHMENTS COLDLY RECEIVED HERE

United States Consul Reports to His Department That Canada Offers Poor Openings to German Trade.

The New York Journal of Commerce is responsible for the statement that, according to reports received by the United States Department of Commerce, there is a very poor prospect for German trade in Canada. It goes on to say:

Little or no attempt has thus far been made by personal solicitation for business on German account among Canadian importers, according to a report received by the Department of Commerce from the American Consul at Kingston.

"That the German commercial interests have an interest in the Canadian market is evidenced," the Consul declares, "by the large quantity of printed matter, principally in the form of circulars, couched in the most inviting and courteous language that is being received by wholesale importing houses and manufacturers' agents soliciting business. While some of these circulars are direct from Germany, by far the greater part come through agents in the United States.

"Why, even if we were disposed to place orders for German goods we could not sell them," a wholesale drygoods man is reported to have declared, "and what is more, if we were foolish enough to buy them and offer them to the trade, we would undoubtedly loose customers as a result.

"At present neither merchants nor consumers will touch German-made goods. But, although German goods as such may not be coming into Canada, fabrics are apparently being worked whereby articles in part of German production are being surreptitiously brought into the country.

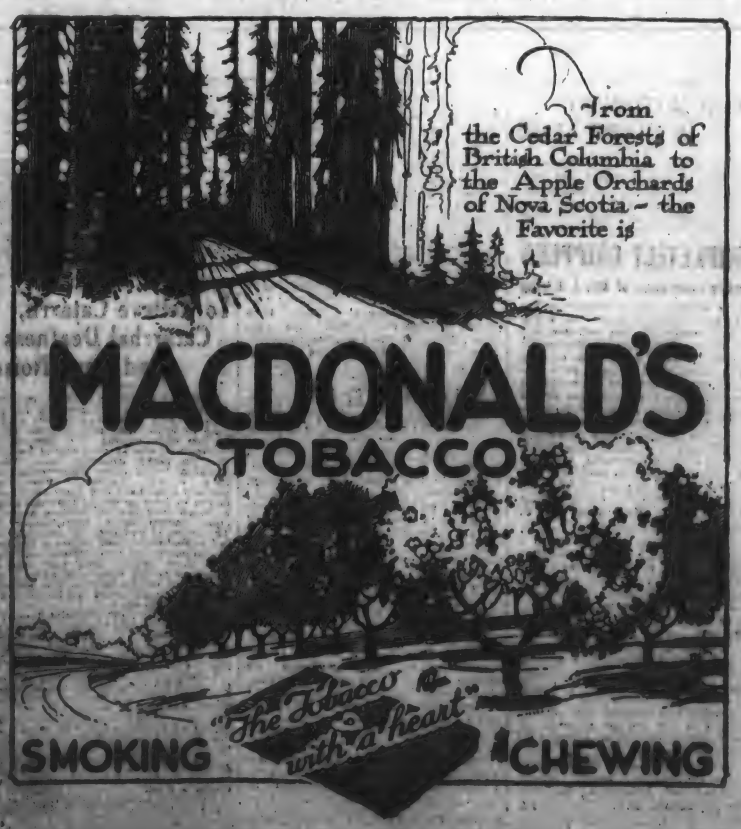

"For instance, a short time ago, a certain importer in Toronto purchased in New York a line of women's satchels equipped with containers for toilet preparations, the understanding being that the goods were of American manufacture. A few days after sending one of these satchels it was returned to the merchant accompanied by an indignant letter in which it was pointed out that, while the satchel might be of American make, the containers were of German production.

"That very few German goods are coming into Canada is evident from the customs trade returns. During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1919, which covered four months of peace only $75 worth was imported and for seven months of the current fiscal year but $11,633 worth or an average of $1,660 a month, quite a decrease from the pre-war days, when the monthly average was about $1,250,000.

"If the present attitude of the Canadian people is maintained, and there is no reason to doubt it will be, the present generation at least will have passed away before Germany's trade with Canada will get back to its pre-war status."

SIBERIAN FORCE HAS LONG MARCH

Cuts Way Through Bolsheviki and Reaches Verkhne-Udinsk—Poles Again Defeat Soviet's Army.

LONDON, March 12.—Thirty thousand non-Bolshevik Russians, after cutting their way through the Bolsheviki forces in Siberia and marching 2,000 miles, have arrived at Verkhne-Udinsk, according to a telegram received by John Ward, member of the House of Commons, from General Horvath at Harbin.

They consist of workmen and peasants, who formed a division under General Voitsakoffsky, and it had been feared they were destroyed or absorbed by the Bolsheviki since the defeat of Admiral Koltchak, former head of the All-Russian Government.

WARSAW, March 12.—A staff communication issued by the Polish army yesterday says:

"The Bolsheviki, having concentrated great forces, attacked Wednesday in the section between Lake Osweja and the River Dvina. After a sharp struggle and the use of reserves, the Poles repelled the attacks north of Mozir. The Poles surrounded and completely defeated the Reds, and took eight guns, an artillery park and a great number of prisoners.

"The press points out enthusiastically the importance of the victory. The best elements of the Red army are flying in disorder beyond the Dnieper, the right bank of which is in the possession of the Poles. The Polish commander is complete master of the situation. The booty taken is considerable."

LONDON, March 12.—Bolsheviki forces have cleared the hostile forces from the peninsula of Yeisk, in Cis-Caucasia, on the Sea of Azov, it is announced in a Soviet official communique received here today from Moscow. The town of Yeisk has been occupied by the Reds.

Of the fighting on the Polish front, where the Poles have recently reported decisive victories over the Bolsheviki, the communique says:

"In the Mohilev-Podolsk region our troops are continuing to advance. They are engaged in violent fighting east and south of Novaya-Ushitsa (in Podolia)."

MAY THANK STRIKE FOR SUGAR WANT

Consumption, he believed, had increased to some extent since then.

"Canada is in a peculiarly fortunate position today, as regards sugar," Mr. Thomson told the committee. The cheapest sugar in the world was in this country, barring Australia. He attributed the reason for this to the fact that the Canadian refineries had contracted heavily for the raw material previous to the upward tendency in the market almost a year ago, on a tip originating with the British observers. This had covered their operations up to the present crop season. The loss of 22,000,000 pounds out of the B. C. Refinery's calculations would put their estimates entirely out of whack.

Sees Readjustment Coming

Generally speaking, the witness said, the sugar shortage was a world market situation. Out of his complete understanding of the sources of sugar supply as a result of the operations of the Food Board, of which he was chairman, he was able to show the committee where relief in the matter was to come through a readjustment of markets gradually coming about. Both Belgium and Germany would be very nearly normal producers of beet sugar this year, in his estimation, and this would have its effect here by withdrawing that much demand from the local sources of supply.

Mr. Thomson also sketched the methods employed by the Food Board in controlling the sugar situation during the war and up to the termination of its work last May, when the country was practically on normal supply.

Know Nothing of Refinery Zones

Asked as to what he knew about the establishment of trade districts among the refineries of Canada, Mr. Thomson said that he was not aware of any fixed agreement among them. He had supposed the extent of a refinery's territory was determined largely by freight rates, which would naturally limit competition to certain rather obvious zones. Touching on the probable profits to the refineries, he quoted from the W. F. O'Connor report on the sugar situation, as the commissioner for cost of living, issued May 18, 1917, which read as follows:

"It can hardly be said that the business of refining sugar is, on the whole, an exceptionally profitable one. Of the six refining companies within Canada two failed to show a profit on the operations of 1916, and one of these two operated at a very substantial loss. The other barely earned the interest on its bonded indebtedness. The latter mentioned company's net earnings were about 4 cents per 100 pounds."

Mr. Silas J. Falkins, secretary and office manager for the Woodward Department Store, in Vancouver, told the committee how it was that his store had been able to maintain a supply of sugar for its customers at all times since the shortage. This had been accomplished by issuing in pound and two-pound lots, and the supplementing of the supply of sugar secured in the regular way from the various wholesalers with the importation of 150 tons of Chinese sugar during the past three months.

Imported 150 Tons

"How did you secure this supply?" he was asked.

"Through brokers in Vancouver," Mr. Falkins replied.

"How did the cost compare?" questioned Chairman M. B. Jackson.

Mr. Falkins then told the committee that he had entered into a contract with the brokers on October 8 of last year. At that time the price was two cents a pound on the Vancouver dock higher than the local price of the product of the B. C. Refinery. That would be about 23 cents. By the time the handling charges were added and the sugar was prepared in small lots for the customer it cost approximately 14 cents. The first lot of 50 tons had reached them during December and their retail price of 14 1-2 cents was at the time on a par with the increased price of the local product.

Matter of Long-Sightedness

Their buying above the market in October, Mr. Falkins said was a bit of far-sightedness, and his store had used it as a medium of advertisement for, with an extra supply of 50 tons a month above their regular allotment of the local product, the store had been enabled to have sugar for distribution to their customers in small lots at all times even when competitors were wholly without. The distribution in December had been at the rate of 2 pounds with every purchase of other supplies from the store; in January the amount had been reduced to one pound with every general purchase of fifty cents or more. For a brief period at Christmas time, customers were allowed to purchase pound lots of sugar alone.

Sales were made to householders only, the witness said, and none of the store's supply had been diverted to manufacturing purposes. Although fancy prices were offered in some instances for supplies of it, they had been refused, as the company considered it of more worth to them to be able to keep a continuous supply for their customers.

Had Not Been Intimidated

Mr. Falkins was questioned as to whether the importation of Chinese sugar by his firm had had the effect of bringing anyone's wrath down on their heads. He replied that it had not. Members of the committee referred to the testimony of Mr. Ella of David Spencer, Ltd., in regard to alleged penalising by the refinery on a similar account and Mr. Falkins stated that his store had never been given the privilege of being on the refinery's preferred list. They had always had to buy through the wholesaler and, so far as he knew, there had never been any objection to the China importations recently contracted for. Neither had the Government withheld permits for the importations.

Some years ago, the witness understood, some sort of a demonstration had been made before the store when Chinese sugar had been brought in for sale by them. That was before his time—probably fourteen or fifteen years ago—and he understood that it had been conducted by the Unions. He had never heard of the refinery objecting.

Asked specifically as to how much sugar his store had obtained during the month of December, Mr. Falkins stated that there had been 50 tons of the China sugar and possibly 20 tons of local sugar. His firm had not, as yet, undertaken to bring in Eastern sugar, though he had quotations for 30 days delivery at $17.46 a hundred pounds, in car load lots, during the last few days.

Explained Customs Position

Mr. Frank A. Small, a local customs officer, was called by the committee to tell why it was that an importation of sugar brought to this port since the shortage was not allowed to be cleared by the Customs. He explained that they were acting in accordance with the Government regulation then in effect requiring a permit for importation of sugar. No distinction was made between a single sack and a ship load. A permit was required in either case, and the importer was so informed.

Asked as to what authority had put an embargo on importation without a permit, Mr. Small stated that it was the Canada Trade Commission. This raised a question in the mind of Mr. R. H. Pooley, M.P.P., of the committee, as to what were the functions of the Cost of Living Commission, the Canadian Board of Commerce, and the Canadian Trade Commission, each of which had been shown to have apparent authority over the sugar situation in the Dominion. A wire was accordingly drafted by the committee asking Sir George Foster, Acting-Premier, to define the status of each with regard to sugar in Canada.

Another wild rumor in regard to "bootlegging" in sugar by a certain local cigar stand was exploded by the sworn evidence of the proprietor to the effect that but two pounds had ever been passed over his counter, and this was drawn from his household stock to oblige a friend in distress.

On motion of Mr. R. H. Pooley, M.P.P., the chairman of the committee, sent the following telegram to Sir Geo. Foster, K.C.M.G., Acting Premier, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa:

"At Provincial Parliamentary committee sugar inquiry, evidence has been produced by dealers showing regulating communications from following three Federal Government bodies, Cost of Living Commission, Board of Commerce and Canadian Trade Commission. Could you wire us clearly defining the functions and jurisdiction of each of these Federal organizations with regard to control of sugar in Canada."

The next session of the Inquiry will be held on Monday afternoon.

Cost Keeping Instruction in the Truck Owners' Conference—a semi-formal association of Motor Truck Users. Its "National Standard Truck Cost System" is the first complete and impartial method for determining what each truck actually costs per ton-mile of transportation. Not only wages, gasoline, oil and tires—but repairs and replacements on his assembled trucks as compared with a truck built from the ground up as a homogeneous Engineering unit

Who Pays for High Costs

DR. LOUIS PASTEUR started to help the vine-growers of France. He ended by raising the health standards of the whole civilized world.

Every positive forward step brings benefits no man can foresee.

The merchant, the industrial man, starts to keep running costs on his trucks. Before he gets through he has searching figures on which trucks to keep and which to scrap—and what make of truck to put his money on in the future.

Here are facts summarized from the National Standard Truck Cost System as kept for over 1700 Packard Trucks during 1919.

Efficiency in operation secured through the help of the National Standard System has resulted in an average gasoline saving of 10 per cent.

Many unusually low records for gasoline have been scored.

The National Standard System used in connection with Packard Trucks has shown it possible to reduce cost per ton mile.

90% of truck owners who have used the System for a year or more and have compared the Packard with other trucks are standardizing on Packards.

To get the full meaning of a record you must scrutinize the facts behind it—and the Organization that made the facts possible.

The Packard Organization has attained a precision in machine finish unknown elsewhere. It has achieved production of top-grade parts in quantity.

It has shown the world a radical advance in the improvement of metals by heat-treating.

It designs, tests and stands responsible for every part of every Packard Truck.

Even the Packard owner often finds it startling to see his advantages put down in cold figures—though he has known all about it in practice ever since 1906.

Tells How to Stop a Bad Cough

[illegible]

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

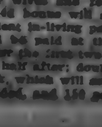

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

IRISH BANKS THRIVE

Two Irish banks have given wonderful reports at their annual meetings. The Bank of Ireland shows that in the past year its deposits and other accounts have increased by 4,726,000 pounds sterling, of which over 2,000,000 pounds has accrued since last July. Advances to customers have grown from just over 8,000,000 pounds in December, 1918, to over 11,500,000 pounds. The chairman reported that the advances were principally for agriculture and trade requirements, which shows that the money is wanted in the right direction. The Munster and Leinster Bank has as good a story to tell. Its paid-up capital has been doubled, and the reserve funds increased, while deposits and balances have increased by over half a million.

LABOR CONDITIONS FOR DUTCH COLLIERS

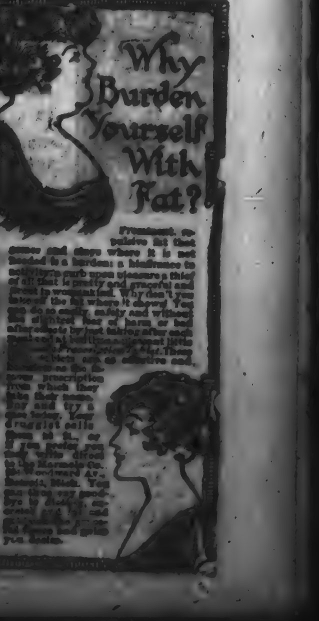

The Dutch press reports that a new agreement has just been concluded between the employers and workers of the Dutch coal mines in the Province of Limburg. A seven-hour working day, which the Dutch miners demanded, has not been granted. The normal working day remains one of eight hours, except Saturdays, when the normal working time will be six hours, with the introduction of three shifts. The normal weekly working time in Dutch mines will therefore be 46 hours.

The average daily wages for underground workers will be: Coal hewers, 12s 6d; hewers who do stall work, 11s 11d; sluttters, 10s 4d; assistant hewers, 11s 2d; sleepers (at the post), 10s; enginemen and signallers, 9s 2d. Eighty per cent of the average wages will be the guaranteed wages. To meet the high cost of living, every miner will continue to receive a bonus of 8s 4d per month. Married men will receive the same bonus for their wives and for each child. The 8s 4d bonus will also be paid for dependent in-living parents.

Overtime will be paid at the rate of 25 per cent for the first two hours, and time and a half after; double pay for Sunday work, which will as far as possible be avoided, and 150 per cent extra for work on the first day of Easter, Whitsuntide and Christmas. After one year's employment, two holidays with pay will be given per annum, rising to a maximum of six.

At every coal mine a committee will be instituted, to consist of two representatives of the employers and the workmen, to advise on all matters of dispute concerning wages, fines, and promotion. The agreement is to last till April 1, 1921, and every three months changes can be proposed.

The first observatory is said to have been at the top of the temple of Belus at Babylon.

HON. MR. FARRIS SPRINGS CABLE

any wonder he could speak as he did yesterday of election crookedness? Is it any wonder he spoke of the possibility of a close election and of its being possible to tamper with these sealed envelopes coming down from the upper country? The tragedy of my friend's position is that there is nothing he can talk about but we can show how he has been guilty of those very things he expects this Government to do," said Mr. Farris concluding his speech.

Mr. Bowser Replies

Mr. Bowser was immediately on his feet on a question of privilege, stating he desired to make a statement as to the alleged cable referred to by the Attorney-General.

"I would have preferred that he should quote from the original cable. Had I known it I would have got a correct copy. But whether this copy is correct or not I cannot say. But it is quite true I was defeated on the civilian vote in Vancouver. At that time I was importuned by the press and by many people, including my Liberal friends, to resign office, but we felt it would not be right for us to do so until the full returns of the vote overseas was complete. At the same time my colleague, Mr. Ross, was elected in Fort George by ten or twelve votes. We were naturally anxious to know how the vote overseas stood. Sir Richard McBride, as you know, was in a bad state of health, though we here were not then aware how serious he was. We cabled to him several times to secure information of the state of the count then going on in London from day to day for we were not always sure he would be able to attend to the matter.

"When that cable was sent they had been some days counting the vote there and I said I was 180 behind. There was another cable which my friends opposite did not apparently get, telling Sir Richard that Mr. Ross was elected. Naturally we were anxious to know how the vote was going and we thought he might keep us posted as to how it stood and whether I was elected or Mr. Ross was holding his election. In reality I was elected by the soldiers' vote in Canada and there was no necessity for my suggesting that I needed further votes there.

"That is the explanation for that cable. There was no suggestion that Sir Richard was to see that 180 votes were to be counted for me. I knew Sir Richard McBride well enough to know that such a suggestion would be an insult to a man of his high standing. I must congratulate my friends on having succeeded in having extracted this private cable from the private files of a deceased man."

It cannot be said that the reading of the alleged cable created any particular excitement among members. How it came to be produced at this late stage was a subject of comment. The explanation of how a private message came into the hands of the Government was to the effect that it was filched from Sir Richard's private files by some member of the Agent-General's staff, and a copy or the original, entrusted to one of the members of the commission sent overseas in 1917 by the present Government to investigate the prohibition referendum vote there. That gentleman brought it back with him, and has been treasured ever since as a likely campaign document against the Leader of the Opposition.

Resumes Debate

Mr. Bowser who, when the adjournment was taken on Thursday night, was discussing the provisions for the absentee vote, termed it a decided innovation to the extent of which the draft bill prepared by the late Premier, Hon. Mr. Brewster, did not go. Rather had that bill stuck to the existing act in that no attempt was made, as in the bill before the House, to divide the outside rural ridings up into districts. He again accentuated the difficulties and trouble that would inevitably arise through forcing a man to vote in his home divisions or, if he voted elsewhere, to the complications that might arise through the requirements of a special vote to be sent back to the returning officer of the riding and not to be counted until twenty-one days after the elections. He pointed to the possibilities of irregularities through such a method, and asked the Attorney-General to explain the necessity for the new proposal. Further, he pointed to the fact that under the bill, when the count of these absentee votes is being made, a comparison of the signature signed by the voter on the back of the envelope with the original affidavit on the application for registration is required. If it were found the two did not compare the absentee ballot was to be thrown out. But all this troublesome paraphernalia was rendered useless, these supposed safeguards obliterated by the provision that in case the original applications were not available the absentee votes were to be counted anyway. Such an exemption simply put a premium on dishonesty, affording opportunity for plugging, stuffing and other election crimes.

Something New

The sections providing for the appointment of deputy registrars, Mr. Bowser stated, were something new in election laws in this Province, the product of some fertile brain. These men, appointed to go out into the byways and highways and get the persons entitled to be entered upon the lists of voters as to whom, owing to absence, inadvertence or other cause, no application in respect of a request for registration had been received, might be honest men or Liberal scallywags, men paid out of the public treasury to gather up the waste and strays. They would say, "I am here at the request of the Premier to see that you get on the list." There had been no necessity for such officials in the past, Mr. Bowser claimed. Under the broad provisions of the old act an affidavit could be sworn to by a would-be voter in the most inaccessible parts of the Province before many parties, the idea having been to make it certain that no voter should be kept from registration through absence of the necessary machinery by which to get his name on the list. The act of the late Mr. Brewster contained no suggestion of deputy registrars, but had suggested a court of revision to settle the franchise, one presided over by a judge. The present plan suggested there was a nigger in the woodpile somewhere, declared the Opposition Leader.

Mr. Bowser repeated his suggestion on Thursday to leave the selection of the deputy registrars to the members of the soldiers' party, or follow the practice in England, where all parties selected such officials. If the Government was not willing to do that, then leave it to the soldiers to make the selection, who should be, preferably, returned discharged men. Allow the G.W.V.A. to name the deputies and if that were done the Government would not be open to the charge that party politics was the moving idea. He would go further and suggest that only men who had been service in France, not merely Shornecliffe men, or those who did their service in Canada, should be appointed.

"A camouflage," was the way the Opposition Leader termed the section respecting the prohibition of campaign funds given "corruptly or in consideration of any favor or promise thereof." Under it the money could roll in, be averred. The section was a mere camouflage to lead some of the moral supporters of the Government to believe that the millenium in election affairs had arrived. What had happened since 1916, he asked, to lead to an act prepared by a former leader of the Liberal party being torn to shreds because another leader is in power.

"You were all agreed in 1916 that there would be a clean act. I suppose it was the plugging episode in Vancouver which my friend, the senior member for Vancouver (Mr. M. A. Macdonald) introduced...."

Premier Oliver objected to that statement, claiming Mr. Bowser had had to retract it on the previous day.

All in the Evidence

"Not at all," retorted Mr. Bowser. "The member for Vancouver swore before that investigating committee of the House that he was then president of the Liberal Association, that he received funds and that he brought John T. Scott from Edmonton, and we know what took place under that individual. I can quite understand my friend's desire to forget that episode. The Brewster Act was your policy in 1916, was printed and sent out to members of the House. What has happened in the inside political world which has induced you to change that Act?"

The section requiring a return within thirty-five days of an election, of a statement by the secretary and treasurer of every political party setting forth particulars of campaign expenses of the party meant nothing, said Mr. Bowser, who pointed to the fact that a similar provision was in the Federal Act and no one, apparently, treated it seriously. It was a case of more camouflage, he asserted. The Brewster Act, considered by the Liberals to be the high water mark in moral election bills, and in the framing of which up doubt the present Premier was consulted, called for a limitation of $500 for the candidate's expenses. Why is that limit being done away with?

Mr. George Bell: "Make it $500,000.

Mr. Bowser: "May I ask what the member for Victoria (Mr. Bell) is going to do in this respect? He was very close to the late Mr. Brewster. I know that a man of his character would be the last one to take a dollar for his campaign expenses."

Premier Oliver: "What about that $500,000?"

Mr. Bowser: "Well, as the member for North Vancouver has suggested, you can go into that matter if you desire to name a proper commission. That investigating committee in 1917, before which you hauled me, a body of your choosing, was a mere kangaroo court to which I knew I would have no fair hearing. But if the Premier would see fit to bring down a commission in anywise a fair one, I will be ready to give evidence, and I will tell you something interesting about my Liberal friends.

"Let my friend draft a resolution calling upon the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council to appoint a commission. If, after all his experience in this House, he cannot do it, I will help him."

Mr. Hanes: "There is no necessity. I want to tell the Premier he will have full opportunity before this House adjourns to vote for an investigation. I hope that this time he will be found voting for it."

Mr. Farris Comes Back

Hon. Mr. Farris resented the Opposition Leader's reference to a "brute majority," declaring the latter, in the 1916 session, had a real one of that nature behind him. Then charges and counter charges of election irregularities had been made, and the then leader of the small Liberal opposition of two, Mr. Brewster, had brought in a bill to obviate the possibility of plugging, of which much was then heard, to provide for a form of application that had to be sworn to, and that every man who subsequently voted should sign his name, which could be compared with that on the original affidavits, those originals to be in the polling booth. The records of that 1916 session showed that the very proposals, concerning which the Opposition Leader appeared to be now so solicitous, were thrown out by the then government and Mr. Bowser had suggested that a book be placed in each polling booth in which the voter should sign his name, but the original affidavits were to be kept in the vault, where they have been ever since.

"That was the solicitude and consideration my friend had for an honest amendment brought in by the late Mr. Brewster," snapped the Attorney-General, who stated that the reason why the bill drafted by Mr. Brewster after he assumed office, was not made law was because, with the advantage of the further experience gained by the Government, it was felt that further improvement could be made. The present bill had, as far as possible, adopted the good sections of the old act. Where there was machinery which had been in operation for years, and to which the people had become accustomed, it was wise, so far as possible, to adopt with such improvements as might be deemed advisable.

Replying to some of the criticisms against the bill, Attorney-General Farris stated that in his opinion one of the most obvious weaknesses of the old act was the absence of any automatic cleaning of the voters' list. In 1914, without a moment's notice, the then government had cancelled all existing lists, a proper act he admitted, but there should have been warning given. The Liberal Association in Vancouver had collected thousands of applications to put voters on the list and all its work had been nullified.

Not Disenfranchised

He disputed Mr. Bowser's contention that by the proposed provision a voter who failed to vote at an election and was struck off the list, was disenfranchised. The idea was to remove those names, but those voters could come forward the next day and get on the lists again.

"He tells us that the act is wrong; that it leaves it open for all kinds of crookedness. I think that the real suspicion in his mind was that he was thinking of what he would do under similar circumstances. He sees something sinister about our provisions for absentee voting, about the provisions for the comparison of signatures. If that system is to be made effective then you have got to make a man vote in his home division where the original affidavits are held. To allow him to vote elsewhere must of necessity require the return of such absentee ballots to that home division. If the system we propose was actually in effect and we suggested going back to the old system I can imagine how suspicious, how angry he would get," said the Attorney-General, who pointed to the fact that at elections there are men on trains, on boats, in the camps or the mines and elsewhere who would desire to register their votes for candidates in their home division.

"I wonder where the Opposition leader gets his ideas of such dishonesty; his mind is a fertile one in that regard."

Mr. Bowser: I got it from the evidence of the Royal Commission which investigated that plugging scandal.

Hon. Mr. Farris: Perhaps he got it from John L. Sullivan, that man who was the chief figure in this House at that 1916 session, Dynamite John Sullivan.

Peeved at Bowser

The Attorney-General labored upon the point of the Opposition leader's knowledge of election crookedness, claiming the latter had demonstrated that despite every step that could be taken to head off illegal practices, he could still show the House how it could be done. He promised to go more fully into the question of the possibility of irregularities under the proposed system of comparison of signatures when the absentee vote was being counted, and to deal with Mr. Bowser's objections that the bill, while calling for such comparison, yet wiped out such safeguards by permitting the count if the original signatures were not available. But he failed to touch upon that phase of the matter.

On the point of Mr. Bowser's objections to the proposed appointment of deputy registrars, he stated that in addition to the long list of officials, as quoted by the Opposition leader, entitled to accept applications, there was also continued the present system of election commissioners named by either party to assist in getting people on the list. But he disputed Mr. Bowser's claim that the other political parties should have the right to name the deputy registrars and Government officials. As for the fear that there might be tampering with the envelopes containing the absentee vote, the Opposition leader knew there would be representatives, of all parties present at the count, both at the time of sealing in the polling booth and at the count.

"One of the handicaps under which my friend is laboring is the fact that in his criticisms of our actions he has been unfortunate in that we have been able to show how he has in the past been guilty of the very things he now fears may happen under this bill," said the Attorney-General, as he quoted the Allied Forces Voting Act, passed in 1916 to permit soldiers overseas to vote. That act allowed other parties to have scrutineers at the counting of the ballots, but not where the voting took place. All over the world, practically, officials of the late Government could take the vote of the soldiers, but when the Liberals had demanded that they should have their scrutineers there it was denied, and it was not until his new-found friends, the prohibitionists, had insisted upon it, would he heed the Liberal demand. The result had been that under the Prohibition referendum the Legislature had latef to send a commission to England to show that the vote taken disclosed a dastardly plot, framed to steal away the rights of the soldiers.

Suspicions

"And yet he comes here and tells us his suspicions. I don't believe he thinks the memories of the people are so short as to justify him in believing he is making an impression upon the minds of the people of the Province," asserted Mr. Farris, with declamatory emphasis. He pointed to the proposal under the new Federal Elections Act to use enumerators, a system, he claimed, which had been proven worthless in the 1917 Federal contest. He suggested that if Mr. Bowser were as solicitous for election purity as he pretended he would suggest to his political friends in Ottawa to turn that work over to the returned soldiers.

Mr. Bowser: I have been too busy watching you here.

"For all the good you are doing you might as well leave us alone," retorted Hon. Mr. Farris, who asserted that the suggestion that he had emasculated the section dealing with campaign funds was wrong, that it was a straightforward statement, not camouflage, and meant what it said. He defended the receipt by parties of what he termed "legitimate campaign funds," pointing to the Prohibitionists and to the Farmers' party in Manitoba as examples of organizations soliciting money to carry on their propaganda. No one suggested, he thought, that such parties might not legitimately do so.

"We had to find out what we conceived to be legitimate expenses. There is no need to hide behind hypocrisy in this respect. Is there anything wrong with legitimate expenses being solicited? He tells us we should not let corporations make donations. The things this Government desires to stop are corrupt practices and contributions. What is a corrupt contribution? One of that $500,000 fund to the Conservative party."

Hon. Mr. Farris appeared angered at the Opposition leader's reference to him as the "wicked partner" of the Premier.

"He has been going around this country making charges against me. I want to say he is not going to get out of this House without making good all his allegations on the floor of this House."

Mr. Bowser: There is plenty of time. Is that a threat?

"It is not a plea for mercy, none for quarter. The only thing I complain of is that he does not here make the allegations he has been making around the Province. He tells us an election might be close and a few votes would be wanted. I remember his solicitude in 1918 for the soldiers overseas, how he pleaded for them to have the right to vote, how he suggested it was a monstrous thing to suggest that honest men might tamper with the votes of soldiers on the field of battle. My friend was defeated on the civilian vote at home. I have before me a copy of a cable sent by my honorable friend to the late Sir Richard McBride, the Agent-General in London."

Mr. Farris then went on to quote from the cable.

The Attorney-General waxed wroth at Mr. Bowser's objections to the granting the franchise to the Japanese veterans on the ground that it was but the thin edge of the wedge for extending it to others. He painted a picture of these Japanese dying side by side with the Canadians, and asserted: "I could not have believed he would have said it, if I had not heard him." He tells us those men should not be allowed to vote with our women, that we are letting in the thin edge of the wedge. I wonder if he can make that charge against the Great War Veterans' Association, of Vancouver, which came here and presented the request that these Japanese, their comrades, should be given the vote. Does my friend challenge the motives of that organization? Who does not remember that thousands of Japs were brought into this country by Gotel, for whom the firm of Bowser, Reid & Wallbridge were solicitors, of the legislation declaring that the coming of the Japanese into this country shall be lawful?"

He claimed it was the Liberal party which gave the women the vote and he was certain they would not be deceived by Mr. Bowser's plea for a white British Columbia, but would appreciate the spirit which extends the franchise to a few men who fought and bled that Canada might have freedom and democracy.

Shipbuilding Here As Business Investment

By Guy Manners.

Shipbuilding in Victoria is as possible a money making investment as any other recognised legitimate business at present engaged in. Boiled down to cold hard facts, it is something that can be made into a permanent industry of unquestionable value to Victoria and much of British Columbia. Sailing ships are coming into their own again; for many cargoes they are preferable to the steam vessel. To show how rapidly sailing ships are being sought after, a telegram has been received by the Victoria Shipowners, Ltd., from a reliable shipping firm, desiring to contract for one of their four-masted 2,400-ton deadweight barkentines, on a time charter basis, something heretofore unheard of in Pacific shipping. Formerly time charters applied only to steam vessels. The particular type of sailing ship to be constructed by the Victoria Shipowners, Ltd., is decidedly the cleverest feat of economical shipbuilding of modern time.

The popularity of these vessels is to be further tested, due to the fact of high cost of fuel and operating expenses, faced by ocean steam carriers.

The world is crying for ships. In another three years there will be an even more insistent demand for ocean tonnage. It will be at least two decades before ocean going tonnage will have reached its total requirement. Why not make of Victoria a shipbuilding base? Place it on a permanent foundation, as a gilt-edged B. C. creation, in which hard-headed business men will take an active part. Victorians away from home, are congratulated upon possessing the most strategical natural position upon the Pacific Coast of North America. Why not live up to such a known truth by accepting such statements at their face value?

If labor does not undertake a policy of dictating, if a hearty co-operative spirit of work together for the common industrial good is engaged in; if the business builders of Victoria and Vancouver Island will stand back of this venture. It will be a success and a money making proposition for every one of its shareholders. After ships will come that other programme of clean industrialism and manufacture. When all of these natural human phenomena occur, Victoria will indeed have solved the problem of her future independence among the truly worth while cities of the world. Four ships? That is just a starter. Watch the shipbuilding industry once firmly established, make for Victoria and itself an enviable international reputation.

Victoria Port Paragraphs

"I must warn those who wish to travel across the Atlantic this Spring and Summer that they must hurry with their bookings for space is scarce," said Mr. C. P. Sargent, North Pacific Coast Passenger Agent of the International Mercantile Marine Lines, on Thursday. He pointed out that ships were being completely booked some time ahead. Tourist travel to Europe promises to be very good this year, said Mr. Sargent, tourist agencies being very active in this regard.

The steamer Fulton discharged 200 bags of rice at the Grand Trunk wharf Thursday. This was for the Mount Royal Mills, and came from the Orient on the City of Spokane.

The auxiliary schooner Oregon left the Inner Harbor late yesterday afternoon, bound for Mexico with a cargo of lumber from the Canadian Puget Sound Mills. The departure of the famous war prize marks the end of well on to four years of sojourn in this port following her seizure in the Gulf of California.

The first of three halibut boats has been launched from the boat-building plant near the corner of Bay Street and Rock Bay Avenue, and a 40-horsepower Eastern Standard engine is being installed. Two more boats will be turned out and put into operation by the group of returned men who found themselves out of work some time ago when the shipyards closed and started out for themselves.

The patrol ship Stadacona returns today after a cruise commencing last Monday with fifteen boys from the Royal Naval College, Esquimalt. The ship went out as far as Cape Flattery and then came back, reporting yesterday from Fulford Harbor, Salt Spring Island.

Fire on Inskip

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—The American steamer West Inskip put into Honolulu on Thursday with a fire in hold No. 5, according to a wireless message received here last night. The vessel left San Francisco March 2 for Hongkong and Manila, with a general cargo.

Will Build Tanker

OAKLAND, March 12.—A contract to build a tank steamship of 16,340 tons deadweight carrying capacity was awarded the Moore Shipbuilding Company yesterday by the Southern Pacific and Atlantic SS. Company of New York, according to announcement. The vessel, said to be the largest yet bid on by a Pacific Coast yard, will be 565 feet over all in length, 71 feet beam, 39 feet depth, and 23,800 tons displacement. It will carry 125,000 barrels of crude oil when fully loaded.

Assistant Manager

SEATTLE, March 12—H. R. Elliott, pioneer Seattle and Alaska steamship man, was named assistant Seattle port captain of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha.

Purchases Schooner

SEATTLE, March 12. — Captain Alex Allan, Arctic trader, today purchased the schooner Olga for service in the Arctic Ocean off Canada and Alaska. The Olga will sail to Herschel Island and return this year.

Shipping Board Total

NEW YORK, March 12. — The United States Shipping Board has 1,387 steamships, aggregating more than 8,300,000 deadweight tons, of which 1,179 were in actual operation February 1, it was made known here today by John Cushing, director of operations.

These ships are being operated from eighteen United States ports and are serving forty trade routes.

Steamer Destroyed

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, March 12.—The American steamship Balabac, owned by the United States Shipping Board, was destroyed by fire here early today. The cargo had been discharged and she was awaiting orders. The ship previously had grounded off the Venezuelan coast.

The captain said the fire originated in the bunkers, and despite help tendered by the British cruiser Calcutta, she burned to the water's edge. There was no loss of life.

The Balabac was a wooden ship of 2,551 gross tons, built at Madisonville, La., in 1917. She was operated by Lykes Bros., in the Mexico-West Indies trade.

New Service Opens

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—The first of ten new coast built steel freight steamers, assigned by the United States Shipping Board to the Pacific-European run, began the service today when the steamer Cansumset cleared for New York and European ports via Portland, Ore., where she goes to complete her cargo. The other nine vessels, ranging from 8,800 to 9,300 tons deadweight, will begin service according to local steamship men as soon as each has been overhauled following completion of war service in the Atlantic.

Guarding Wine

SEATTLE, March 12. — Customs officials here today were guarding closely a shipment of several hundred gallons of wine, discharged on a local dock yesterday by the shipping board steamer West Ivis. The wine was consigned by a Hongkong liquor dealer to a Vancouver, B.C., firm, and will be shipped on another vessel to the Canadian port.

Crying Need Is Fast Freighters

WASHINGTON, March 12. — Although the world's ship tonnage is greater than before the war the service rendered is not more than one-half of what it was, J. H. Rossetter formerly director of operations of the Shipping Board, today told the senate commerce committee. Delays of all kinds have reduced materially the efficiency of the vessels, he said, instancing strikes in many countries.

The crying need of the American merchant marine programme, Mr. Rossetter said, was for cargo craft of the "liner" class, ships of 10,000 tons with a speed of thirteen to fourteen knots."

"If we are ever to accomplish our dream of making New York instead of London the financial centre of the world," he said, "the only way is to establish these regular lines."

Going Into Far North

EDMONTON, March 12.—Transferring their activities from salt water to the great inland waterways of Northern Alberta and beyond, eleven ship carpenters have arrived in Edmonton from Vancouver, and are now awaiting transportation to Fort Smith, which is 490 miles north of Edmonton, just on the northern boundary. As soon as possible they will go by rail to Fort McMurray, where they will be taken by dog team over 300 miles of ice down the Athabasca River to Fort Smith. They will be employed there in completing the new 165-foot river passenger steamer The Distributor.

Old Vancouver Pioneer Dies

VANCOUVER, March 12.—George A. Cameron, a pioneer resident of this city, died yesterday. He was 81 years of age, first came to Vancouver in 1885 and was one of the oldest employees of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, having been connected with it for 21 years.

AVIATION OF PEACE THRIVES FROM WAR

Great Impetus to Science of Flight Given By Necessities of War Now Available for Peace Purposes.

Major-General Sir F. H. Sykes, Controller-General of Civil Aviation, addressed the members of the Royal Geographical Society recently on "Imperial Air Routes." The Prince of Wales was also an interested listener, and afterward made a short speech. Describing in his introduction the evolution of aviation, Sir F. H. Sykes said the controlling factors were still imperfectly understood, but there was something very striking in the strange sequence of events whereby the problem of flight was solved just in time to assist in the conduct of the war and in the achievement of victory, gaining in the process incredible impetus in its development.

The science of aeronautics was now endeavoring to spread its young wings in the service of peace, and for the expansion of industry not only in the Imperial Commonwealth, but throughout the world. For the air fleet battle line it hoped to substitute a world-wide commercial network. Even before the armistice steps had been taken in this direction. In June, 1918, he had prepared and read a paper before the Imperial War Cabinet, when the policy of uniting the various parts of the Empire by air was discussed.

He now submitted considerations in regard to the geographical conditions affecting Empire routes; those proposed being Egypt-India; Cairo-Cape; India - Australia; England - Egypt; England-Canada.

The Azores a Stepping Stone

Another route which could not be neglected was that between England and the West Indies, with the Azores as a stepping stone. From some central point in the West Indies a connecting service of flying boats could be usefully employed for the distribution of mails. It was imperative that the first line of the fighting force should always be on a war footing. The modern airman required the wisdom of "my Uncle Toby's" ideal soldier. Civil aviation would be the best method of insuring a reserve of capable airmen to draw upon. He hoped, too, that before long the air forces of the Empire would be welded for strategical purposes into one force coordinated by an Imperial Air Staff.

The analogy of the navy and the mercantile marine was close, in more ways than one. They could draw upon the commercial service in time of war, but it was impossible to convert a merchant vessel into a first-class battle-cruiser, so it would be impossible to convert commercial aeroplanes into first-class fighting machines, though it was true that civil aircraft could be more easily used for direct war action, such as bombing, than a converted ship of the mercantile marine. For war purposes aircraft designers and constructors concentrated their efforts upon evolution and production of machines of the highest possible speed, combined with the maximum climbing and manoeuvering powers, and it must, to a greater degree, be combined with reliability, flying radius, weight carrying capacity, and reduction in costs.

Change of Value in Peace

In peace a change of relative value would naturally ensue between civil aviation and military aviation. Military aviation must be circumscribed on the ground of finance, while civil aviation must never cease to expand, and gradually to produce revenue. Military design must be concentrated on speed, climbing, manoeuver ability, and fire power, whilst commercial design must be fixed on one object only—the development of the machine as a reliable commercial vehicle. Britain must become the carrier of the world, not only on the sea, but in the air.

Some of the requirements of aviation on an Empire basis were: The maintenance of a highly efficient fighting force; the expansion of commercial aviation to promote British trade and to supplement the fighting force, when necessary, by a reserve of personnel and material knowledge and experience; co-ordination and co-operation of aerial communication throughout the Empire and its relation to other countries; the organization of routes; the energetic promotion of research and encouragement of design; money to assist experimental mail services; and the arrangement of land survey, forest patrol, and other work in which aircraft could be utilized. Responsibilities must be faced, and the year would, he hoped, go down in history as marking the birth of a sound, virile and truly Imperial air policy.

Says They Helped Her Aching Back

MRS. ROBERT BAIRD TELLS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Belmore Lady states that she was weak and run down till she found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

BELMORE, Ont., March 12.—(Special)—"I can assure you that Dodd's Kidney Pills helped my aching back as none others ever did or ever will do."

It is Mrs. Robert Baird, a well-known and highly respected resident here, who makes this statement. She is an enthusiastic believer in Dodd's Kidney Pills as a remedy for weak and run-down women.

"I was both weak and run down all last Summer," she states further. "And before my baby was born I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. They helped me in every way. I also had my little boy take them and they benefitted him greatly."

Women who are weak and run down should look first to their kidneys. No woman can be strong and healthy if her kidneys are not doing their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood. Weak kidneys are the cause of nine-tenths of women's ills. Ask your neighbor if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make strong healthy kidneys.

AMERICAN ROWING

Large Number of Regattas Arranged —Will Have Bearing on Olympic Crew Selections

NEW YORK, March 9.—More than a dozen dual, triangular and championship regattas this Spring constitute the most impressive rowing programme in the history of Eastern collegiate rowing annals. Every race will carry the added incentive of having a bearing upon the final selections of crews for the Olympic Games contests to be rowed in August.

The early season dual races will range in distance from the Henley two-mile contest, with an average of approximately one and one-half miles. The intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie will be rowed over a three-mile course, while the Harvard-Yale regatta on the Thames River at New London will be the usual four miles for the varsity and two miles for the second and freshmen crews. The list of Eastern collegiate rowing dates for 1920 follows:

April 3, Yale vs. Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia; April 17, Princeton vs. Navy, at Annapolis; April 21, Navy vs. Harvard, at Annapolis; April 24, Columbia vs. Yale, at Derby, Conn.; May 1, Princeton vs. Harvard, at Boston; May 8, Columbia vs. Navy, at Annapolis; May 15, Syracuse vs. Navy at Annapolis; May 15, Princeton vs. Yale and Cornell, at Princeton; May 22, Harvard vs. Cornell, at Ithaca; May 29, American Henley, Child's Cup, Columbia, Penn. and Princeton, at Philadelphia; June 25, Yale vs. Harvard, at New London, Conn.; July 1, Intercollegiate Regatta at Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

POLICE SEARCH FOR COUNTESS MARKIEVICZ

DUBLIN, March 12.—The police today raided the residence of Mrs. Eammon de Valera, wife of the Sinn Fein leader, in search of Countess Markievicz, Sinn Fein member of parliament for the St. Patrick's division of Dublin. They were unsuccessful, however, in their quest.

It is stated that the police mistook a cousin of Mrs. de Valera, from London, for the Countess in disguise. There has been no mention in recent dispatches on the Irish situation of any fresh charges against the Countess.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish High Water from Low Water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower Low Water.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the Dry Dock at any tide, add 18.6 feet to the height of High Water as above given.

REVOLUTIONARY PLOT FOUND IN GERMANY

BERLIN, March 12.—The German Government has discovered a revolutionary plot organized by a reactionary clique, which also has been endeavoring to corrupt troops. The public security forces and the reichswehr have been confined to barracks in readiness for an emergency.

Die Freiheit alleged that General von Luettwitz, commander of the first reichswehr group, is implicated in the plot.

Minister of Defence Noske has ordered the arrest of Captain Pabst, Dr. von Kapp, and two other persons. Pabst was prominent as a member of the staff of the guards cavalry division. Von Kapp is one of the founders of The Fatherland.

The idea of using oil to calm waves originated with Benjamin Franklin and was tried successfully by him.

The title of "majesty was first given to Henry VIII.

Piles and Constipation Cured—Says Internal Bathing Saved Her Life.

If the thousands of men and women with constipation and the many ills which follow would bathe internally instead of continually dosing themselves with drugs, they would soon realize why every user of the J.B.L. Cascade is so enthusiastic in its praise. There should be one in every home. Keep the colon clean and free from poisonous waste and you will not need the doctor.

Mrs. Robert Gordon, 422 Cadillac St., Montreal, Quebec, writes: "I cannot speak too highly of the J.B.L. Cascade. It has saved my life. I have been troubled with constipation, piles and ulceration of the bowels for years, have only been using the Cascade for three months, and am happy to be doing my own work again after having been laid up for many months. I would not take one hundred dollars for my Cascade if I could not procure another."

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfect appliance for Internal Bathing, the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, of New York, and is doing more towards improving the health and efficiency standard of the nation than all other means combined.

This appliance is shown and explained at Campbell's Drug Store, Fort and Douglas Streets.

CALL MONEY RATE TAKES SHARP RISE

Unsettlement In Stock Market Follows Unexpected Advance From Opening Figure —Foreign Exchange Weak

NEW YORK, March 12.—International credits and an unexpected flurry in call money were the dominant factors in today's very irregular stock market, in which the early trading was enlivened by further operations of bull pools.

Foreign exchange manifested a reactionary trend from the outset, the British rate adding 6 cents to yesterday's late reversal on specific denials of reports that the gold movement from London to this country was already in progress.

Call money opened at 7 per cent, thereby raising the hopes of those who were apprehensive that the current heavy tax payments would create stringent conditions over the week-end. These hopes were dashed later when the rate rose steadily to 15 per cent, that quotation prevailing at the close.

The bulk of today's dealings centred again in motors and their subsidiaries, also oils, equipments and rails. Extreme advances of 2 to 10 points in these issues were finally reduced or altogether disappeared through heavy selling attending movements of money.

Conspicuous features of the early advance and subsequent decline were General Motors, in which a 10-point gain was followed by a 15½-point reaction, involving a net loss of 5½ points, and Crucible Steel, which forfeited a substantial gain, and more besides.

Among other industrials and specialties the swing from high to low ranged from 2 to 6 points, losses of 1 to 3 points prevailing at the end, when transportations also yielded. Sales amounted to 1,500,000 shares.

In the bond market irregularity featured the trading, the Liberty group showing comparative steadiness. Changes among domestic rails and industrials were nominal on smaller offerings. Total sales, par value, aggregated $11,750,000. Old U.S. bonds unchanged on call.

STATISTICS GIVEN OF RHODES SCHOLARS

Seymour House, London, in its annual statement with regard to the Rhodes scholarships, gives the number of scholars actually in residence for either the whole or some part of the academic year 1918-1919 as eighty-seven: sixty-six colonials and twenty-one Americans. Of these, thirty-one joined the university for the first time. There were also in residence nine former scholars, of whom five were colonials and four Americans. Nineteen scholars left at the end of the academic year, although they had not in all cases completed the term of their scholarship.

There follows a list of military honors and academic and athletic distinctions gained by Rhodes scholars, as also of books published by some of them during the year. These last cover a wide range, from a sketch of the theory of relativity to a volume of poems and a report made to the United States Senate in the Baltic provinces.

In America the elections to these scholarships were held under new conditions. No qualifying examination was required, and the selection committees were composed of old Rhodes scholars, acting under a chairman not himself a Rhodes scholar. Owing to the suspension of elections during the latter part of the war, elections for 1918 and 1919 were held last October, and scholars elected for 1918 will join the university in October next. In consequence the numbers for this year will be above the normal maximum.

The trustees say that candidates should realize that, owing to the increase in the cost of living, the scholarship of £300 is no longer sufficient to cover the expenses of a full year, including terms and vacations. The holder of a scholarship must therefore be prepared to supplement it to the extent of about £50 per annum.

FREIGHT RATES RISE ON BRITISH RAILS

Coincidental with the coming into operation of the new rates for the conveyance on railways of goods, minerals, and merchandise, the report of the Rates Advisory Committee was issued recently by the Ministry of Transport. Among the recommendations it is stipulated that the rates and charges for the conveyance, whether by goods or passenger train, of "returned empties" be increased by 100 per cent, except where they amount to a truck load, when the increase is to be 50 per cent.

Further, it is proposed that the arrangements with the Postmaster-General for the division of the receipts for goods sent by parcel post be so modified that the railway companies receive 55 per cent of the total, and that the contracts for the conveyance of mails should be revised, so that the charges made by the railway companies should be increased by 60 per cent. It is advised that no increases be made in the rates and charges in respect of milk. The committee likewise proposes that the Ministry of Transport should have prepared by competent experts suggestions for a complete and thorough revision both of the rules of fixing rates and of the classification of merchandise.

Inter-University Debate

SEATTLE, March 12.—The University of British Columbia debate team was defeated by the University of Washington team here last night, in the first of a series of debates on the question: "Resolved, that the Paris peace conference should have awarded to China the rights given to Japan in Articles 156, 157 and 158 of the treaty of peace." Washington upheld the affirmative. The decision of the judges was unanimous.
